

BOUND NOT BY BRICKS

DELONIAN 1988

For this year's Delonian we, the class of 1988,

Although academic life has been the main focus and athletics, has provided us the opportunity to equipped us with a foundation that will help us to its bricks.

It is our recognition of this reality which makes have chosen the theme "Not Bound by Bricks."

of our high school years, Delone, through activities grow beyond the bricks of academics. It has also fully live our lives when we are no longer bound by us proud to be a part of the Delone community.

SPIRIT WEEK

Spirit Week '87 gave Delone students the opportunity to let their spirit show. The week of fun and craziness began on Monday, Accessory Day. Students receiving honorable mention for their outstanding combinations of ties, jewelry, hats, and sunglasses were Amy LeFaivre, Mike Keating, and Dawn O'Connor. The winner was Martha Karsteter, whose outfit consisted of ties, ties, and more ties. On Tuesday, 50's and 60's Day, students came in poodle skirts, saddle shoes, and slicked back hairdos. Josh Brazil, Melanie Schmidt, and Gina Small received honorable mention while the winner was Duke Staub, aka, the original "slicker." On Wednesday, College Day, students wore hats, sweat-shirts, pins, etc., supporting their favorite colleges. Runners-up were Dan Lawrence, Christie Powell, and Belinda Spangler. The obvious winner was Candy Staub who displayed the names of many colleges, both known and unknown to Delone students. Masquerade Day was Thursday. Among those who scared us, made us laugh, and nearly knocked us off our seats were Chris Popoli, Christine Horoschak, and Chuck Lambert. However, the dual winners were Scott Amig and Jerry Driscoll, who showed us the true meaning of the word "nerd." Spirit Week ended on Friday with Squire Day. Decked out in their black-n-gold Delone duds. Steve Kale, Shindle Ruth, and Jill Corbin received honorable mention. Sharon Clabaugh, the winner, completed her look with black-n-gold hair and face. Lip Days, a special feature of Spirit Week, again proved that neither girls nor guys had the willpower to refrain from talking to one another. The prestigious title of "Mr. Irresistible" was given to Dane Weaver while the "Ms. Flirtatious" award was shared by Jill Brillhart and Jill Wierman. The faculty also responded to the excitement of Spirit Week. Receiving special awards for their active participation during the week were Sister Kate and Miss Buehler. All in all, Spirit Week '87 was enjoyed by the student body and faculty alike.

HOME COMING

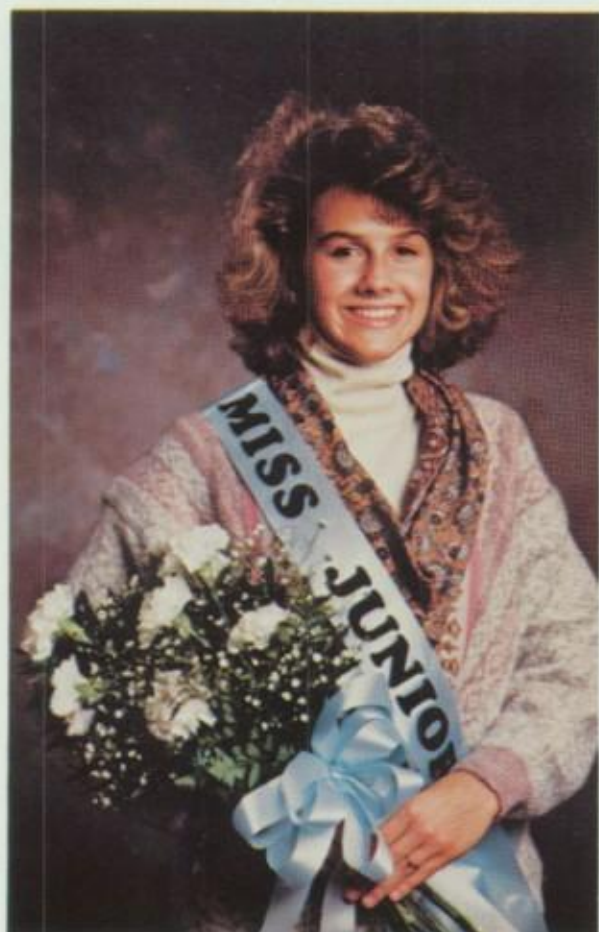

Despite the defeat of the football team, the spirits of the 1987 Homecoming Court were not dampened. Prior to the game, the court entered the stadium seated on sporty convertibles and were greeted by the applause of the spectators. At halftime Miss Freshman Robin Garvick led the way down the field as each member of the court, escorted by a close male family member, was introduced. She was followed by Miss Sophomore Susan Knox, Miss Junior Kelly Barrick, and finally the senior court, Miss Jackie Gastley, Miss Kristin Markle, Miss Cathy Overbaugh, Miss Tracey Trostle, and Miss Elena Wildasin.

The excitement mounted as everyone anxiously awaited the crowning of the new queen. Mike Shellito, senior class president, announced: "And now this year's Homecoming queen... Miss Jackie Gastley." Last year's queen, Angel Misiti, crowned Miss Gastley while Nino Misiti, student council president, presented her with a dozen red roses. After the crowning, the queen and her court received congratulations from family and friends. Festivities continued the following evening at the Homecoming dance which was enjoyed by all who attended.

On November 11 when other area schools were closed because of snow, Delone opened its doors to students and the Fountain Square Fools. The Fools, of Cincinnati, work at unleashing the challenge of the Gospel in our world today. Although the school-wide retreat had to be shortened, it was once again a rewarding experience. Fr. Michael Sparough, SJ, Ed Gutfreund, and Chris Potter, through song, dance, humor, and audience participation, encouraged the students to view the Gospel in more modern terms. Throughout the day, students actively participated in writing letters to God, making banners, writing petitions, holding up signs, flying kites, singing, anointing one another with oil, and dramatizing Biblical stories. As the audience swayed to such familiar tunes as "The Rainbow Connection" and dramatized the Our Father, the Delone community experienced a renewed unity. Instead of the scheduled liturgy the procession and dramatic presentations condensed into a para-liturgical celebration. Although the retreat ended early, the enthusiasm and joy of the day remained with the participants as they journeyed home.

"I was homeless, and you gave me shelter."

Delone recognized the International Year of Shelter for the Homeless in an assembly on Human Rights Day, Dec. 10. Student speakers from the Contemporary Affairs class highlighted the situation and provided possible alternatives for solving the problem. According to student coordinator, Steve Weaver, each year the United Nations recognizes a global problem and attempts to increase awareness of it. Paul Zinder noted that students of his generation must take part in the political, economic, and social process to solve the shelter problems. Students presented flags symbolizing the many countries affected by the problem. To help focus on the local homeless problem, Peggy Shellito shared research concerning the homeless situation in Gettysburg. Beth Scheer presented possible solutions for providing adequate shelter for the estimated one billion homeless. Father Brian Cox, assistant pastor of St. John's Catholic Church, Westminster, addressed the problem from his experience of working first hand with the homeless of Carroll County and Baltimore. He currently manages Resurrection Farm, which provides the homeless with an opportunity to live and work in a warm, loving, and hospitable environment for an unlimited time period. A slide show focused on the international and individual dimensions of living in a world community. The program closed with a brief candlelight memorial service for the homeless who have died.

CHRISTMAS

The joyous mood of the Christmas para-liturgu began with the N.H.S. singing yuletide carols as students entered the gym. Following an opening prayer, accounts of various countries' Christmas customs as well as greetings in the languages of these countries were given by teachers and students who had lived in or visited these lands. Following these presentations, others shared their own unique American family traditions for the holiday season. Father Grab then addressed the assembly on the true meaning of Christmas. Later, the school community participated in the adoration of the Christ child and prayed for the blessing of the season upon the world. Cookies made by Home Ec students were distributed to everyone, a very nice tradition. The celebration ended with the singing and playing of Christmas songs.

HORROR

On January 29 and 30 the Delone Players presented Tim Kelly's "Horror High." This spoof on teenage terror films combined both mystery and comedy. The play takes place at Toombs High School which is located between a graveyard and an ivy-colored insane asylum. Thanksgiving Eve becomes a game of "Who's Who." Clint and Burt, future Hollywood filmmakers, con Ferdinand into playing Marcus, a former student at Toombs. However, the students soon discover that the real Marcus has escaped from the asylum to take revenge on Toombs. As the evening progresses, the students also discover that there is an art thief in their midst. But who is it? Is it Marlo, Danny Digger, Spot, or Miss Grim?

As the mystery unravels, the students discover that there is a duplication of several characters, but the art thief is identified and the true Marcus reveals himself. Relieved that the mystery is solved, the students exit for tea.

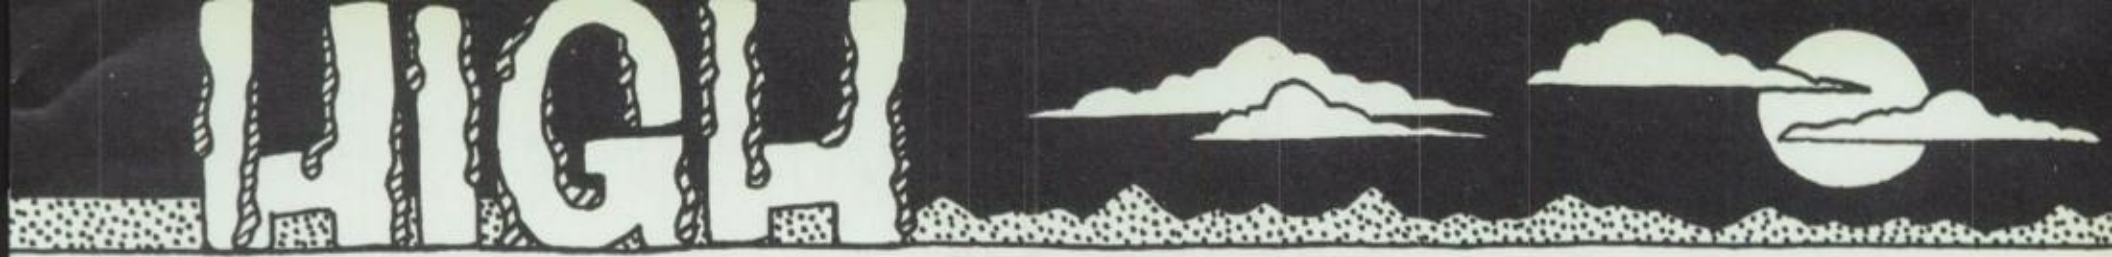

However, things are not as resolved as they appear for as the final curtain lowers, Carrie Biscuitbarrel comes out of a truck with knife in hand to finish off Mrs. Wellington.

Miss Ruthann Pinkos, in her first year as drama director here at Delone, worked closely with the actors to perfect their projection skills, and with the back stage crews to provide a professional looking set, excellent sound effects and lighting, as well as appropriate costumes and makeup. Helping Miss Pinkos were student director, Krista Hufnagle and student technical directors, Chuck Lambert and Becky Staub. In addition to the evening public performances, matinees were presented for grade school children on Friday and for senior citizens on Saturday.

World Travelers

In a survey conducted by the yearbook staff, we discovered that many Delone students and faculty members have traveled and lived abroad. We, therefore, decided to focus on three exchange students and one faculty member.

The students had comments on a variety of subjects that might be of interest to the Delone community. They concluded that, in spite of the problems they may have had, they would love to return and visit the countries that were home to them for almost a year.

Education: Students will be happy they're here at Delone when they discover that many school systems in other countries require students to take ten to fifteen academic subjects each year and go to school from 8:00 to 5:00 Monday through Friday and from 8:00 to noon on Saturdays. Students are also required to pass lengthy examinations in each subject before they can proceed on to the next level.

Tom: "The dress code here is a killer. Study halls are great."

Steve: "Teachers changed rooms, not the students."

Danielle: "Everything was extremely competitive and academic."

Language: Students in most countries must study at least two languages other than their native tongue — seven years of one and five years of the other.

Tom: "Slang is great. My first new word learned here was 'Cool.'"

Steve: "It took about three months before I felt comfortable with the language."

Danielle: "I got a sore throat from pronouncing the French 'R.'"

Discipline:

Tom: "Delone teachers have more 'power.' We have five times the freedom."

Steve: "Discipline was really lacking. Of course, I felt obliged to take part in the mischief."

Danielle: "It was much stricter and everything was very serious."

Food:

Tom: "Peanut butter — Yuk!!! Love that junk food!"

Steve: "The food wasn't really strange; it was familiar."

Danielle: "Six course meals enhanced by delicious desserts."

Tomislav (Tom) Posavec is spending this year at Delone from his native country of Yugoslavia.

Danielle Miller spent her junior year in France.

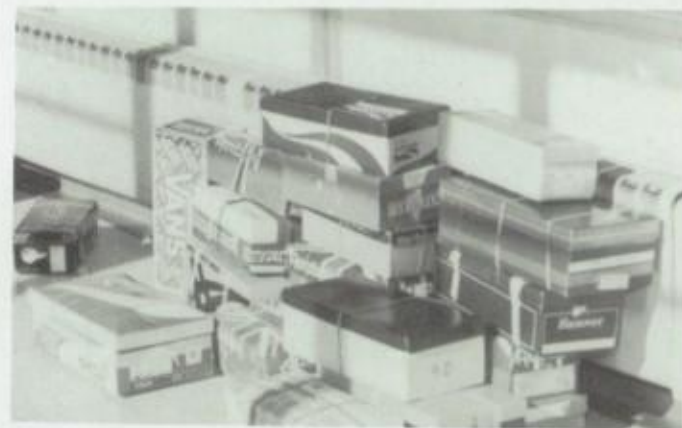

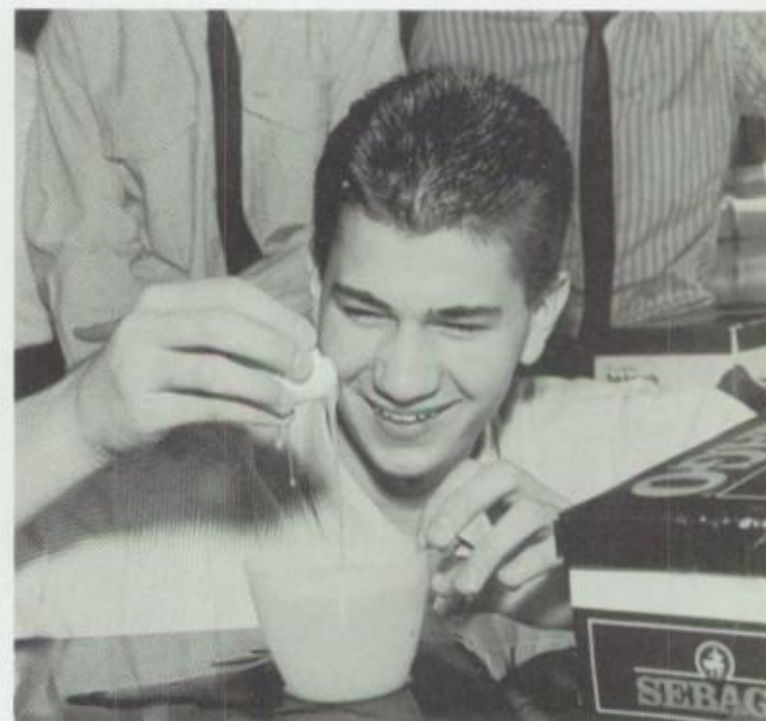

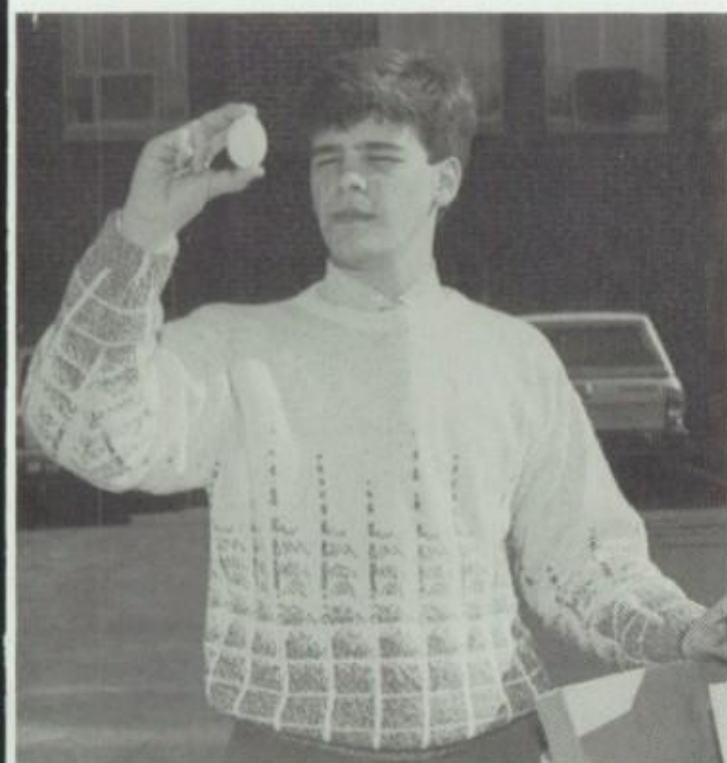

We, the yearbook staff, could not do a section on World Travelers without including Sister Maria. Ever since she was presented a gift to visit California, she has been interested in traveling. This interest led her on trips accompanied by students to Paris, London, Luxembourg, Germany, and Switzerland. Although Sister Maria regards these adventures as positive experiences, she finds that her most meaningful trip was to the Holy Land in 1975. Planning her first trip to the Soviet Union in the summer of 1988, Sister voiced concern over the food differences and wondered how students will react to experiencing Communism. After all of these travels, it is hard to believe that Sister Maria wishes to take one more trip in her lifetime. She wishes to go to Yugoslavia to make a retreat at a small village where the Blessed Mother has been appearing since 1981.

It Was EGG-citing!!!

The designs included packing the eggs in water, in jello, and in whipped cream, encasing them in layers of foam, suspending them in nylons. The interest generated by this Chemistry assignment reached beyond Room 119 as students ran to classroom windows to watch Miss Kerr dropping (throwing?) the boxes from the roof. "Egg-cited" cheers were heard as boxes were opened and the egg was still "alive".

This is Chemistry? Modeled on an assignment given each year at MIT where engineering students must design a working model from provided parts, each Chemistry student was asked to house an egg in an ordinary shoe box. The egg was to be packed in such a way that it could be dropped from successive heights without breaking. Motivated by a major test grade, the novelty of the assignment, and healthy competition, the students brought in "egg-ceptionally" creative designs. Miss Buehler remarked, "This project far surpassed what I had hoped for. The kids outdid themselves. At the end of the contest there were still 18 eggs intact."

Talent Show

On March 25, the Student Council sponsored its Second Annual Talent Show. The show consisted of eight official acts plus some between acts entertainment by Steve "Gravy" Spalt singing two Queen songs and the Nerds, Scott Amig and Jerry Driscoll, who amused the audience with their outfits and cereal box jokes. Emcees Nino Misiti and Elena Wildasin introduced each of the acts consisting of drum solos by Dave Stephens and Mike Keating, songs sung by soloists Krista Hufnagle and Christina De Maria and the duet of Becky Staub and Sharon Storm, a performance by the rock band No Exit (Dennis Sweeney, Alan Meckley and Steve Cox), a guitar and drum duet performed by Todd El Taher and Nico Potgieter, and a ballet number by Clare Coakley. The audience and judges thoroughly enjoyed each of the acts and appreciated the variety of talent demonstrated by Delone students.

Visitors to Delone

On February 9, 1988, Bishop Keeler made his annual visit to Delone. In a meeting with the Student Council, the Bishop expressed great interest in those concerns which the Student Council, as representatives of the entire student body, presented. The Delone community then attended a Mass which the Bishop concelebrated with priests from the various area parishes. In his homily, Bishop Keeler stressed the role of Christian youth in today's society. At the end of Mass, he announced the Bishop's Holiday which the students always look forward to with enthusiasm. Following Mass he met briefly with faculty members thanking them for their dedication to Catholic education. The Home Ec Department provided the Bishop and the area priests with a sumptuous meal prior to their afternoon meeting.

On March 21, Delone had the privilege of hearing Mrs. Molly Kelly for the first time. Her main emphasis was placed on chastity and the necessity of its reinforcement in today's society. As she held her hands way above her head, she claimed, "This is where I place teenagers today." In a society in which the pressures and difficulties facing teenagers have increased tremendously, she recognizes that many people mistakenly view teenagers in a very negative manner. She related her concern over the widespread use of contraceptives and presented arguments stressing the need for and the benefits of chastity. The students reacted very favorably to her approach which was both serious and humorous. In the evening she also spoke to interested parents. Besides traveling throughout the country speaking on chastity, she holds down the fort in her Philadelphia home where she has been a widow for the past fourteen years raising her eight children. Delone was fortunate to have her as a speaker.

You're Only Young Once

On May 6th and 7th, the Delone Drama Players presented "You're Only Young Once." The cast of 13 seniors and 7 underclassmen displayed their talent and wit while unraveling the mystery of the cigarette carton in the midst of a movie camera fiasco and preparations for the victory dance at Kennedy High. The incriminating carton found in the locker of star football player, Ron Dayton, threatened to suspend him, ruining the team's chances in the championship game. Thanks to the ingenuity of master meddler, Gabby Gallagher, the problem is resolved. Several Delone faculty members saw their characteristics incorporated into the casts' characters.

After Saturday's production, the senior members of the cast and crew were thanked for their participation in drama during the past four years.

Mock Political Convention

Judging from the enthusiasm of the student delegates, Delone's sixth National Political Convention was a smashing success. Following the addresses of Representative Donald Door, Commissioner Catherine Cowan and McSherrystown Mayor Thomas Weaver, and the keynote address of Craig Staub, role call of states was conducted. Each chairperson responded with chauvinistic pronouncements about their respective home states and then either yielded to a sister state or submitted the name of a democratic candidate for nomination. The rousing nominating and seconding speeches addressed the background and social, economic, and international policies of each of the four democratic hopefuls. While Mike Shellito adopted the fire-and-brimstone style of his candidate, Jesse Jackson, and rallied the assembly to a fever pitch, Paul Zinder opted for a more intellectual approach in discussing the political theory of Mike Dukakis. The first ballot on which no candidate received the necessary majority represented the predicted responses of the actual states. On the second ballot the students had the opportunity to vote for the candidate of their choice. Michael Dukakis prevailed, closely followed by Jackson, with Paul Simon and Albert Gore trailing far behind. Except for a minor demonstration and several outbursts which were immediately quelled by the sergeants-of-arms, the convention ran smoothly. Short speeches by guests U.S. Representative William Goodling and Representative Kenneth Cole added to the atmosphere of the assembly.

The participation of the entire student body allowed every person to learn more about the process through which the leaders of our country are selected. The convention gave them insight into this process, making them realize their responsibility as citizens to actively participate in government. EVERY VOTE COUNTS! Thanks to the dedication and effort of the steering committee as well as the Social Studies department, Delone's mock political convention was a positive experience for all.

"Time of My Life"

On May 13, 1988, all those going to the prom eagerly awaited early dismissal to begin preparations for the prom. That evening the excited "prommies" arrived at Martin's in the hope of having the time of their lives. After admiring the beautifully decorated surroundings and a vast variety of gowns and tuxedos, all were seated. A delicious dinner of prime rib, lasagna, stuffed chicken breasts, and other side dishes followed. The highlight of the evening was the announcement of the court and the crowning of the Prom King and Queen, Mike Binko and Kristin Markle, and the Prince and Princess, Troy Strausbaugh and Kristin Schneider. All enjoyed dancing, socializing, picture taking and the variety of desserts offered. At the conclusion of the evening, many realized the evening would give them memories that would mark "the time of their life."

Junior Ring Celebration

The Junior Ring Ceremony was the highlight of the final day of school for the underclassmen. After Class President Christa Schuchart greeted those present and proclaimed the theme for the paraliturgical celebration, a slide show, including many familiar faces, was presented as "On the Turning Away" by Pink Floyd played in the background.

Symbolic gifts acknowledging the help given the class by God, parents, country, administration, faculty and friends, were then brought forward and placed on the altar. As the ceremony drew to a close, Father Grab blessed the class rings. After a candle-lighting ceremony, accompanied by Krista Hufnagle's singing "Candles on the Water", the class of 1989 filed out and were at this point officially seniors.

The class of 1990 then treated the new seniors and their parents to a delicious breakfast.

Baccalaureate

On May 24, the Class of 1988 celebrated its Baccalaureate Liturgy at St. Joseph's Church. The theme of this year's liturgy was "The Bread of Life is Our Path of Life." Graduates were called to be transparent in order that God's Divine Presence might be seen through their human presence.

Homilist Father Philip Burger developed the theme using a flower, baby's breath, and a bud vase to symbolize our unique beauty and vitality as members of God's Family. He stressed our important roles as members of society. Just as a flower arrangement would be distorted if one of the elements were missing, the world would be lacking if one of us were not present and active members of its wonder.

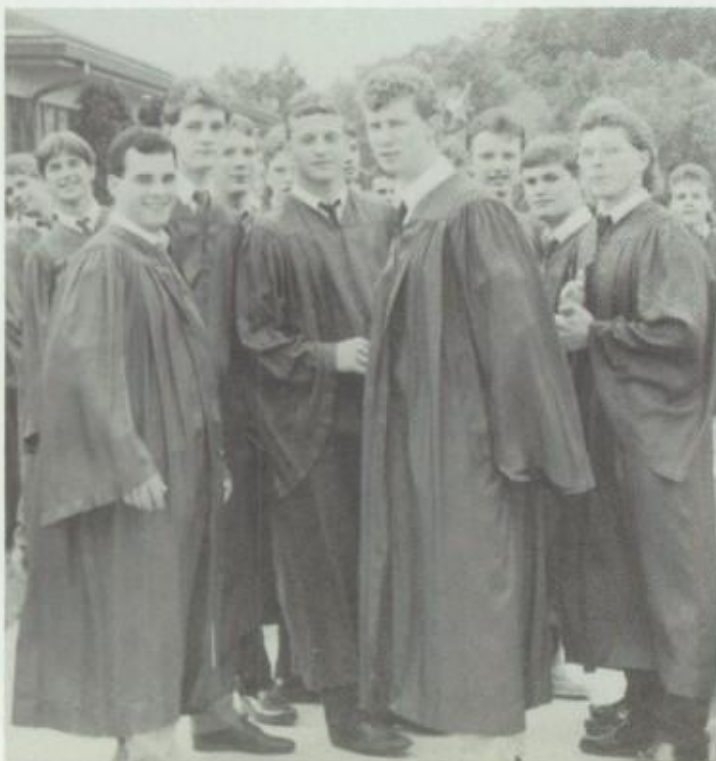

Students participated in the offertory procession by presenting various gifts of thanksgiving which represented their unique talents, loved ones and mentors, and their love of country. The Bread of Life was offered as the community asked God to nourish and strengthen them to face the challenges of everyday life.

Father Grab concluded the ceremony by calling on God to walk with the graduates, keeping alive their dreams, and reminding them of their greatness.

Graduation

May 27, 1988, in the Lawrence B. (Sonny) Sheppard Jr. gym, marked the culmination of four memorable years. Although the heat did not subside for the occasion, parents, faculty, and friends remained enthusiastic as Delone graduated its 48th class. In addition to upholding graduation traditions, this class broke tradition, becoming the first class to have two salutatorians, Candy Staub and Leona Sevick. After Candy welcomed the parents, Leona saluted the students, quoting from John Donne's well known "Meditation 17." Those present then welcomed guest speaker Mrs. Finch, a 1964 Delone graduate who owns her own investment advising and financial planning firm in Baltimore. She stated, "Life is a wonderfully complex journey for each of us. There are many experiences to be had, people to meet, and much to accomplish. At this point, life is like a smorgasbord — one can consume only a certain amount." After her inspiring speech, the students received their diplomas and shifted their tassels to the right, finalizing their graduation. Cathy Overbaugh then delivered the valedictory address, pointing out that "it is time to continue on our journey, exploring new, untrodden and unfamiliar paths." After quoting from Robert Frost's "The Road Not Taken," she reflected on the last four years saying, "For these truly were the days, my friends." The Bishop then concluded the ceremonies by encouraging the graduates to live their faith. With hugs, laughter, and tears, the graduates marked the end of four years of growing, learning, participating in activities, and forming new friends. The Class of 1988 bids farewell to and expresses their gratitude to the entire Delone community.

Guest speaker Mrs. Finch compares life to a smorgasbord . . . Valedictorian Cathy Overbaugh tells the graduates: "I took the road less traveled by, and that has made all the difference."

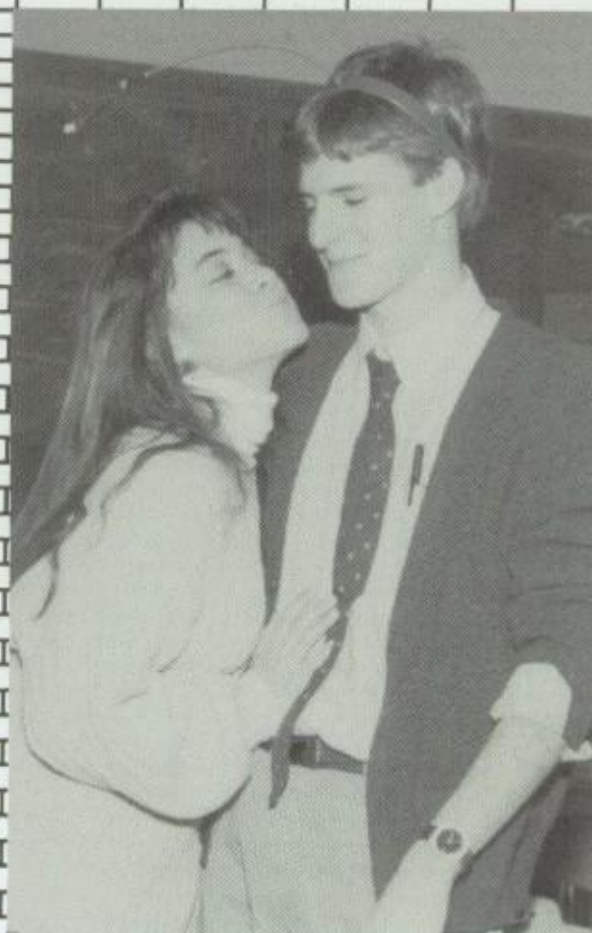

Alan Funk — with courage and determination he did it! The respectful silence requested during the issuing of diplomas remained until Alan stepped forward. After being diagnosed with leukemia in January of 1985 and receiving a bone marrow transplant in March of 1987, Alan graduated with his class, receiving a standing ovation.

SENIORS

NOT BOUND BY BRICKS

Class Clowns are at it again! Sharon Clabaugh raises Troy McMaster up the pole!

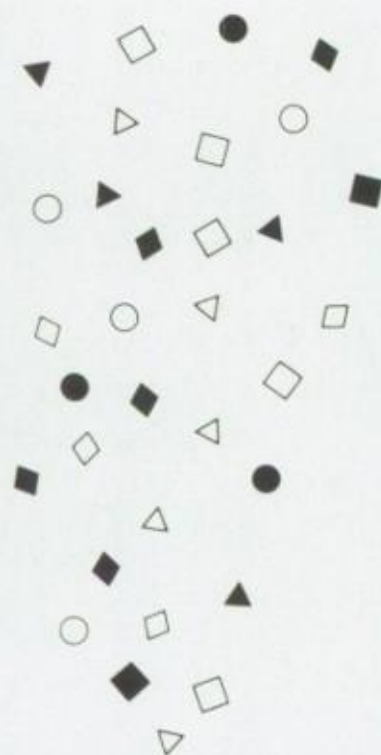

Partner stunts done by Elena Wildasin and Bob Murren help to give them the title of Most Spirited.

It's not surprising that the Shyest, Rich Nicholas and Ethel Small, hide behind the bushes!

Of the members of the senior class, it can be said that Wendy Tavares and Dennis Sweeney Talk the Most, but surely Say the Least!

John Hagerman and Jody Schuchart pump iron in the weight room in order to become Most Athletic.

Even a camera makes our Class Blushers, Tony Kale and Deb Hofmann, turn red instantly!

Kristin Markle's realistic painting of Mike Greenholt seems to jump out at her!

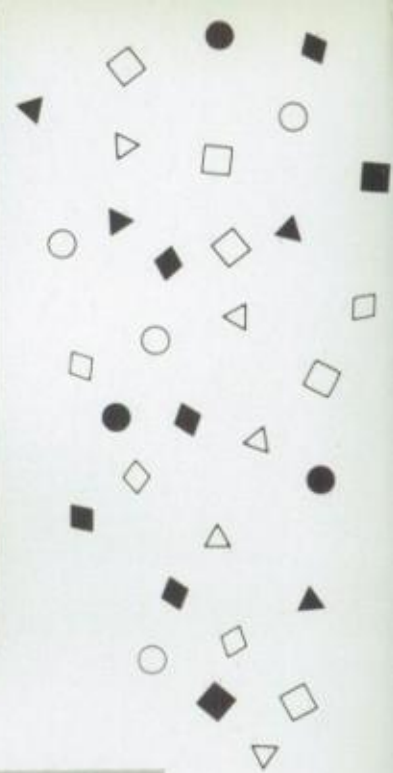

Participating in both band and chorus, Todd Garrett and Mary McBride share the title of Most Musical.

With friendly smiles and greetings, Mike Binko and Jackie Gastley share the honor of being Easiest to Get Along With.

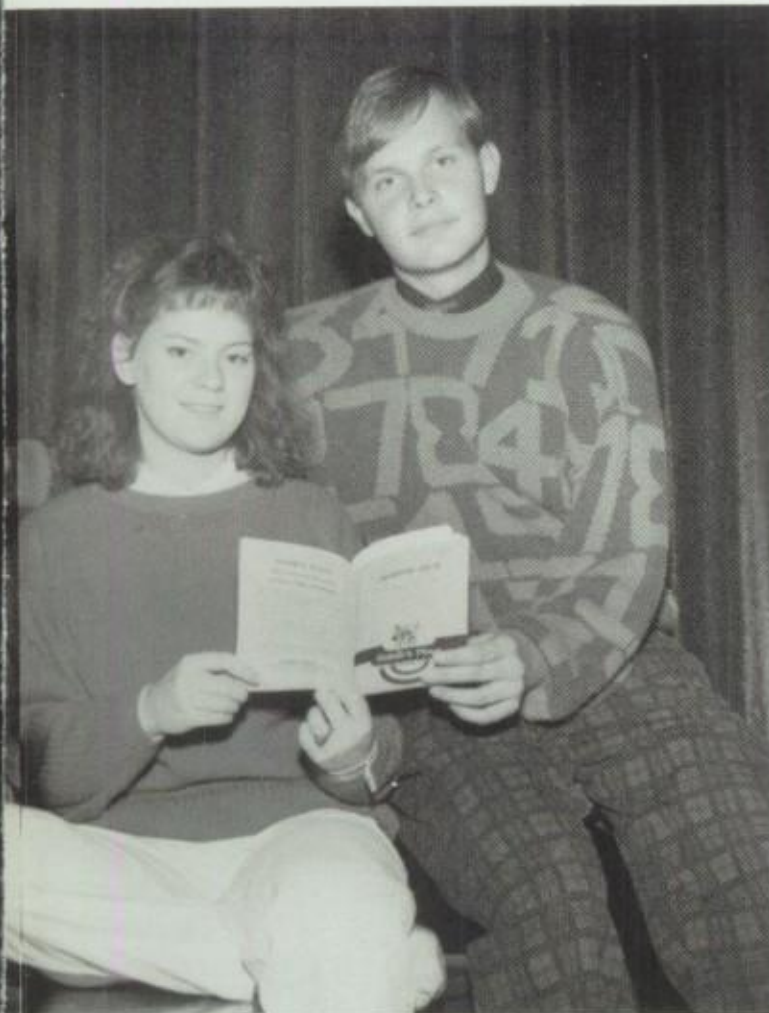

Light bulbs constantly flash as ideas come to the minds of the Most Inventive, Scott Humpert and Cathy Overbaugh.

Most Dramatic, Michelle Good and Jim Rosner, are once again at work preparing for another school play.

Diane Groft and Shultz (Dave Shultz), the Most Studious (HA-HA), let the books pile up while pursuing more exciting things!

Leona Sevick and Paul Zinder, the Most Likely to Succeed, certainly have a long way to go!

Jenny Singer and Dan O'Brien would have earned the title of Most Flirtatious without a kissing booth!

Steve Spalt and Cathy Timmins, the Biggest Complainers, have no mercy on their listener.

Never underestimate the pranks of the Most Mischievous, Wendy Hayward and Rodnny Vargas!

Chad Giraffa and Meghan O'Brien show off their pearly whites after being awarded the title of Best Smiles.

Wendy Topper and Jeff Wierman are "Goin' to the Chapel . . ."

Wearing the finest attire is nothing unusual for Tracy Trostle and Nino Misiti.

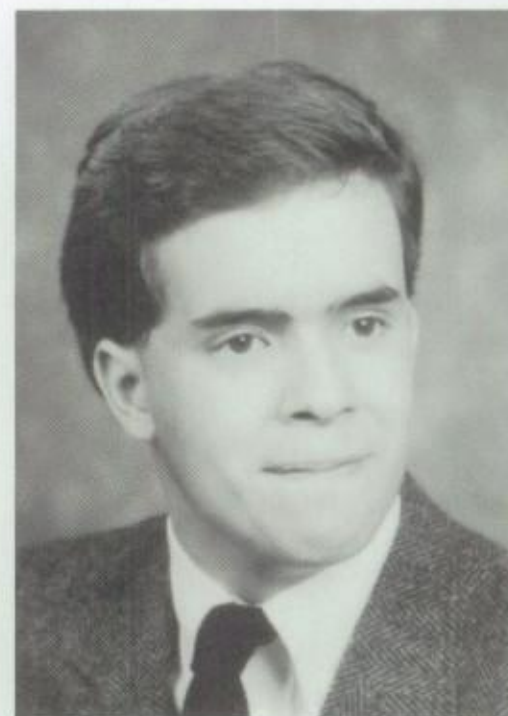

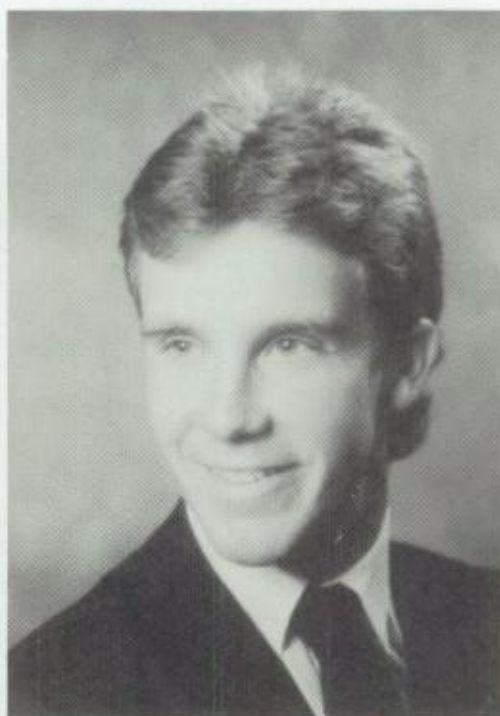

From this picture, it is hard to tell that Scott Amig and Jenny Clabaugh are the Friendliest.

Class of '88

Senior year . . . and what a year it was! With the exception of those weeks when every teacher decided to see how much the students could endure, senior year was one of the greatest, most memorable times of life. Throughout the year, students organized and participated in dances, the talent show, and plays. Open campus always provided time for relaxation, socializing, and whipping out dollar bills hoping to be the "instant winner." Oh . . . those infamous vending machines! For nine months the seniors anticipated that great day. In those nine months the class demonstrated their great class spirit, winning the spirit stick time after time; sported the latest in fashions (Burger King hats); and frequented such area "hot spots" as Pizza Hut, Tropical Treat, and the bowling (red head pin — WINNER!). As the prom came and went, students realized they were coming to the end of their journey through the hallways of Delone. It was those hallways where friendships were formed, people received the notorious insubordination, books came flying out of stacked lockers, and the separate entities became a unified class — the unique and diverse class of 1988. This class marked the culmination of four years with Baccalaureate at St. Joseph's Church, Graduation (Oh . . . those nice cushioned chairs!), and the All Night Party. Amidst uncertainty and tears, there was laughter, hugs, hope, relief, and joy. The class went on separate paths. However, there is always a path leading back to Delone which the Class of '88 can travel to relive four wonderful years, renew friendships, and be reminded of the great community of which they were an integral part.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Juniors

The juniors of 1988 proved they were not bound by bricks as they became upperclassmen. For many, this was a hectic time of preparation for the fast approaching senior year. The fall brought these students many new responsibilities as well as privileges. As juniors, they were faced with PSAT's, SAT's, and of course term papers, not to mention Victor Frankl, Nietzsche, and Dostoevski. Somehow, they survived with the help of early dismissal and anticipation of the Prom. This junior class has proven its loyalty and unity time and time again at football games, basketball games, dances, and most importantly, in time of crisis. In late fall the junior class pulled together to raise $800 for their classmate Dawn O'Connor and her family when their home was destroyed by fire. For this display of charity the junior class deserves recognition. Although made up of very different individuals, the class has learned the importance of unity. They have shared many joys, such as the blessing of their class rings, and many disappointments, but through it all, they stood together as one, the junior class of 1988.

Sophomores

The sophomores, in a state of limbo, are no longer "greenies", but not yet upperclassmen. Having survived MACS last year, this year they were faced with one quarter each of phys. ed., industrial arts, home ec., and drivers' ed. However, in spite of their difficult schedules, the sophomore class found time to participate in many activities. As a class, they helped make December at Delone special by selling poinsettias and sponsoring the Christmas dance. Another interesting and novel project sponsored by the sophomores was the selling of boxer shorts. These special events, along with other class sponsored projects, helped raise money for the exciting events they will experience as upperclassmen.

Being a sophomore is not an easy task. They are too old to blame their immature behavior on the fact that they are "greenies" but too young to blame it on "senioritis." However, they managed to suffer through sophomore year because they knew that next year they would be upperclassmen and enjoy the privileges this brings.

Isn't it great to be GREEN!

Last fall, the "greenies" entered Delone with many expectations about their high school years. These expectations became realities as the freshmen soon became acquainted with Delone life. Enjoying great new experiences like Homecoming, pep rallies and MACS, the freshman class soon acted as if they had been at D.C.H.S. for years. Although the wearing of the green is exciting, the Class of 1991 anticipates many more thrilling memories in the three years to come.

Administration

The Delone community consists of administration, faculty, staff and students. It is through their mutual cooperation that the school runs smoothly. Father Grab, Principal, is responsible for all matters pertaining to the day to day operation, administration and supervision of all aspects of the school program. Mr. Frew, Dean of Students, is primarily concerned with matters pertaining to discipline and attendance. Sister Marie Aimee, Director of Studies, focuses her attention on matters dealing with the instructional program of the school. Mr. Jack Miller, Director of Student Personnel, Mrs. Camille McFarland, Director of Development and Activities, and Mr. Tom Staub, Athletic Director, lend their expertise to the administrative staff in matters directly relating to their particular positions. A variety of Faculty Committees for which teachers volunteer aid the Administration in carrying out their duties.

The Principal's Advisory Committee, PAC, discusses issues on a wide variety of subjects which are of importance to the administration and faculty. Its duties include presenting recommendations, suggestions, and inquiries to the Principal on school matters and assisting him in the formulation of school regulations.

The Curriculum Committee, composed of the Principal, the Director of Studies and the department chairpersons, work on the development and changes within the curriculum and on interdepartmental cooperation.

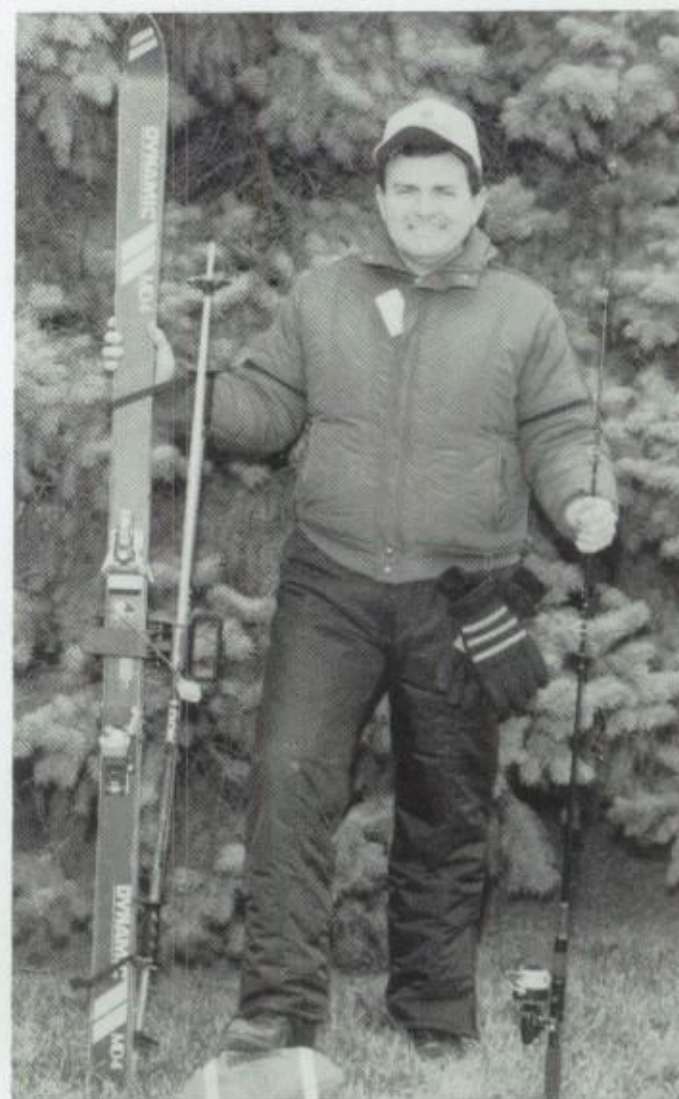

The Discipline Committee continually reviews the discipline code and arranges meetings with parents and the teachers of those students who may be having discipline problems. In addition, other committees which function at Delone are the Eighth Grade Orientation Committee, Catholic Schools Week Committee, In-Service and Retreat Planning Committees. These committees organize and carry out these important events. Other Ad Hoc Committees may be formed when the need arises. It is through cooperation and communication among all involved that Delone provides a solid Christian education and atmosphere for its students.

Although he teaches Mechanical Drawing and Wood, he still finds time to play his favorite sports: basketball, football, and lacrosse. He lives by Yogi Berra's statement, "God gave talent to those who don't have motivation and motivation to those who don't have talent."

Sister Agnes, S.C.C., (top ctr.), mounts her students' pictures in preparation for the art show. She divides her time between teaching Art Appreciation, Art 1, 2, and 3, moderating the Art Club, and serving on the Curriculum and Catholic Schools' Week Committees. She enjoys crocheting and her favorite quote is Claude Bernard's, "Art is I, science is we."

Mrs. Teresa Black, (top right), packs away the cheerleading sweaters. In her last year here at Delone before moving to Florida, she taught Spanish 1 and 2, and German 3, moderated the Spanish Club and coached cheerleading. In her spare time, she enjoys playing tennis, running, reading, and traveling.

Miss Jane Aranyos, (ctr. left), pauses outside her door before going in to teach class. She teaches Accounting 2, Business Law, and Typing 1. She also serves on the Discipline Committee. In her free time, she cultivates her flower beds and vegetable gardens. Her favorite quote is, "Right on target!"

Mr. Thomas Breech, (bot. left), takes a break from his busy schedule to read the comics. He teaches Driver's Education, American Cultures, Psychology, and Sociology. He is known as the man who risks his life to show Delone's reckless drivers how to drive properly. He enjoys watching wrestling and Penn State football. His favorite quote and trademark is "Are you brain damaged?"

Sister Carmelita, SCC (top left) does research for her World Cultures class. A newcomer to Delone, she teaches World Cultures and serves on the Catholic Schools Week Committee. Among her hobbies are walking and reading. Her philosophy of life can be stated by the following quotation: "Let not your heart be troubled nor be afraid." (John 14:27)

Sister David, S.C.C. (top middle) searches for the latest in rock-n-roll. In her first year at Delone, Sister David teaches Religion, English, and helps moderate Forensics. Always walking through school with a smile, she adds brightness to the Delone Community.

Sister Dolores McKenna, S.C.C. (top right) instructs her eager student, Patrick Stremmel. Besides teaching English IV, English I, and Basic Communications I, she serves on the Steering Committee and enjoys reading. Her favorite quotation is, "The world is charged with the grandeur of God." (Gerald Manley Hopkins)

Ms. Pamela Duncan (above) contemplates the team's strategy for the District 3 playoffs. Although Ms. Duncan has many responsibilities at Delone including teaching Health Science and Physical Education, serving as ping pong moderator and moderator of the Sophomore class, and coaching Girls' Varsity Basketball, she also finds time to participate in other activities she enjoys: basketball, racquetball, and running. Her favorite quotation is John Wooden's "Success is never final. Failure is never fatal. It's courage that counts."

Pushing aside her chemistry books, Miss Barbara A. Buehler (middle right) finds Larry Byrd to be much more interesting. In addition to teaching Chemistry and Advanced Science, she serves on the Public Relations, PAC, and Curriculum Committees and is chairperson of the Science Department. She enjoys reading, traveling, needlework, and rooting for the Celtics.

At last, Mr. J. Thomas Daughton (lower right) discovers what it's like to be in front of the lens. Mr. Daughton, who teaches English and moderates the Video Club, has one strong piece of advice: "Don't tell your mother goodbye until you decide which way the path of life leads."

Mrs. Enid Franko (top left) models her teaching methods after Hamlet, who said, "I must be cruel to be kind." Mrs. Franko teaches senior English and Great Writers. In addition to moderating Inquire, the literary magazine, she is a member of the PAC, Curriculum and Ad Hoc Committee. Her favorite quote is Hamlet's "There's a divinity that shapes our ends, rough hew them how we will." In her spare time, Mrs. Franko enjoys reading, cooking, and raising her cat, Becket.

Mr. Andrew Franko (top right) relives his childhood. Besides teaching Junior Religion, Mr. Andrew J. Franko serves as the Senior Moderator and the Religion Department chairperson. He is a member of the PAC and Ad. Hoc Committees. It comes as no surprise that Mr. Franko's favorite quote from Goethe, is "If you take man as he is you make him worse; if you take him as he ought to be you help him become it."

Miss Linda Eisenhart (center left) explains electrical circuits to her class. Besides moderating Pep Club, Miss Eisenhart teaches IPS, Physics, and Science in Everyday Living, while serving on the Ad. Hoc. and Orientation Committees. In her spare time, she enjoys playing volleyball, reading, and sewing.

Sr. M. Esther Francis, O.S.F. (ctr. right) oversees her students' progress. Sister keeps busy teaching Computer I and Computer Applications, while also serving on the PAC Committee.

Mr. Tom Flaherty (bot. left) prepares a health lesson. He teaches Health and Physical Education, moderates Intramural Basketball and serves as the head coach for the boys' basketball team.

Mrs. Joan Hamburger (top left) can still manage a smile even while grading a student's paper. Although she was only at Delone for a semester, she added a lot of sparkle to the school and became an avid fan of Squirettes' basketball. She taught Home Economics and often times supplied the faculty with a variety of goodies. She also moderated the Crafts Club and served on the Curriculum Committee.

Mr. Alan B. Griffith (top center) demonstrates some of the equipment he uses when rock climbing. He teaches Biology, Ecology, Health, and Advanced Biology. He also moderates Forensics. Besides rock climbing, he enjoys bicycling, running and gymnastics. His favorite quote comes from Ralph Waldo Emerson: "Trust thyself; that is the iron string that all hearts vibrate to."

Mr. Steven A. Gauvry (top right) stresses an important point in his senior religion class. He teaches both junior and senior religion and serves on the Discipline and PAC Committees. He also moderates the weightlifting segment of Intramurals. In his free time, he enjoys hunting and backpacking.

Ms. Mary C. Furlong (center right) spends her free time in Room 21 working with the word processor. She is chairperson of the Social Studies Department and busies herself by moderating Mock Trial, Model UN and all Debate and Forensics activities. This year she was also responsible for the mock political convention. Along with these responsibilities, she teaches Economics, American Government, Family Dynamics, Contemporary Affairs and World Cultures. Furthermore, she serves on both the Curriculum and PAC Committees. In her leisure time (when she has any), she enjoys reading.

Mr. John Gastley (bot. right) displays some of the sports paraphernalia that adorns the Goalpost. Besides teaching General Business, Business Math and Accounting, he enjoys sports, walking, reading and frying chicken at the Goalpost. His favorite quotes are "What the!" and "Keep in touch."

Miss Anne M. Kerr (top left) is obviously an avid Pittsburgh Pirate fan. Besides moderating National Honor Society, and teaching Algebra 2 — Trig, Algebra 2, and Algebra 2 Fundamentals, she serves on the Discipline and PAC Committees. This Pirate fanatic enjoys watching sports, collecting baseball cards and bowling. Miss Kerr's favorite quotation is from Ralph Waldo Emerson: "It is easy in the world to follow the world's opinions, it is easy in solitude to follow our own; but the great man is he who in the midst of the crowd keeps with perfect sweetness the independence of solitude."

Besides teaching freshman and sophomore religion, Sister Kathleen Rooney, SSJ (top center) enjoys cooking. She coordinates all the school's liturgies and serves on the PAC Committee. Besides cooking Sister enjoys dancing and playing tennis. Her favorite quote comes from Robert Frost: "Two roads diverged in a yellow wood, And I, I chose the one less travelled by and that has made all the difference."

Sister Kathleen T. McCafferty, SSJ (top right) enjoys teaching her freshman, sophomore and senior religion classes. In her spare time Sister enjoys counted cross-stitch, walking and reading. Her favorite quote comes from Ephesians: "May God enlighten your innermost vision that you may know the great hope to which you are called."

Mrs. Betsy Hertz (ctr. right) explains a point of Business Law to her students. She came to Delone in early March as a long term substitute for Miss Aranyos. Along with Business Law she also teaches Accounting and Typing. She enjoys swimming and skiing in her spare time.

Mrs. Lorie Keeney (bottom left) works on one of her many sewing projects. After taking a semester's leave of absence, she returned to Delone in January. She teaches all the Home Economics classes as well as Child Care. She also moderates the Sewing and Crafts Club and serves on the Curriculum Committee.

Sister Maria, R.S.M. (top left) is always cheerful as she helps students. Sister teaches all four years of French and serves as chairperson for the Language Department. She also moderates the Travel Club and serves on the Curriculum and PAC Committees. Sister enjoys traveling in her spare time. Her favorite quote is: "You're out of order."

Miss Ruthann Pinkos (top cen.) enjoys watching the cast rehearse. She teaches IPS, soph. Health, and Science in Everyday Living. She also acts as drama director and is moderator of both the Drama Club and the Junior Class. In addition, she serves on the PAC and Ad Hoc Committees. In spite of her busy schedule, she finds time to read, fish and go horseback riding. Her favorite quote is "This too will pass."

Mr. Gerald McBride (top right) grabs a cup of coffee before his first class. Besides teaching American Cultures to juniors, he enjoys golfing, gardening and reading. His favorite quote seems to be "If you will."

Miss Patricia L. Renaut (cen. left) takes a break from her busy schedule. Even though she teaches Office Procedures, Word Processing Skills and Typing I and II, she finds time to moderate FBLA and to serve on the Curriculum, Ad Hoc, PAC and Computer Committees. She is also chairperson of the Business Department. As hobbies, she enjoys skiing and playing cards.

Sister Nivarda, SCC (cen. right) enjoys keeping her room beautiful by watering her plants. Sister teaches Algebra I and Basic Algebra. She is moderator of the Freshman Class and the Community Service Club and also serves as Mission Moderator. She serves on the PAC, Catholic Schools Week and Eighth Grade Orientation Committees.

Mrs. Elizabeth Roscoe (bot left) wonders when the day will finally come to an end. She teaches Calculus, Pre-calc, Geometry Fundamentals and Basic Algebra. She also moderates the SAT Prep and helps Sister Kathleen Rooney with all the liturgical services at Delone. In her limited free time, she enjoys reading, needle art, and spending time with her young daughter. Her favorite quote is: "Better to light a single candle than to sit and curse the darkness."

Mr. Brian Yealy (top left) listens attentively to keep the beat. Besides teaching Music Exploration, Instrumental Music, Vocal Music and Music Theory, he directs the Chorus, Marching Band, Concert Band and Jazz Band. He also serves on PAC. In his spare time, Mr. Yealy enjoys reading, watching movies, and (How surprising!) listening to music.

Mrs. Dana Larkin Sauers (top cen.) takes time to relax and smell the flowers like a true transcendentalist. She teaches Speech to freshmen and American Literature to juniors. She also moderates SAT Prep and serves on the PAC and In-service Committees. Her favorite quote — "I think I can, I think I can." keeps playing in her mind as she enjoys her many hobbies, including fishing, clamming, crabbing, hiking, camping and gardening.

Mrs. Connie K. Schlak (top right) prepares for a forehand wood. She also likes to play bridge and clean house during those few precious moments when she is not moderating Yearbook or serving on the PAC and Ad Hoc Committees. Mrs. Schlak teaches Spanish 3 and 4, German 3, Spanish Conversation and Culture, and Marriage. Among her favorite quotes is "When God created man, She was only joking."

Mrs. Mari Westforth (above right) exclaims "Muy bien!" as she drinks her morning coffee. She began teaching Spanish 1, 2, and 3 at Delone second semester. She also moderates the Spanish Club. Her favorite quote is "Muy Bien!" which she applies to those things she most enjoys such as shopping, going to lunch with her friends and being with her family.

Msgr. William R. Lyons (top left) takes on the look of a senator. In reality, he is pastor of Saint Aloysius Church in Littlestown and the senior guidance counselor at Delone. This former principal of Delone, although not as active as he used to be, could still beat any faculty member in the game of golf.

Mr. John T. Miller Jr. (top right) prepares to catch dinner. He is the guidance counselor for both sophomores and seniors and enjoys gardening, woodworking, reading, and fishing. His philosophy of life is based upon the following statement by William James: "When you have to make a choice and don't make it, that in itself is a choice."

Sister Jacquelyn Staub S.S.J. (above) gains new insight from the computer. Besides being librarian, she moderates the Library Aides and serves on the Curriculum Committee. She also enjoys shopping. "Work is love made visible." by Gibran is her favorite quote.

Reverend Philip Burger (ctr. right) talks with Billie Jean Mowery. In addition to being chaplain, he serves on the Retreat Committee and enjoys hunting. His favorite quotation is, "Rejoice in hope, be patient under trial, persevere in prayer."

Mr. Christopher J. Cline (bottom right) steps out, ready for a new day. He is the guidance counselor for freshmen and juniors. In his spare time, he enjoys photography, playing basketball and softball, hiking and traveling. To summarize his philosophy, he says, "All anyone should really ask of you is that you do your best."

Sr. Rita Feeney, S.S.J.'s (top left) bright smile encourages the students she helps. Sister Rita, the reading teacher and Community Service Moderator, actively serves on the Catholic Schools Week Committee but still finds time to read and listen to music. Her favorite quotation is G.K. Chesterton's "Joy . . . is the gigantic secret of the Christian."

Mrs. Cheryl Kutz (top ctr.) looks up for a moment while doing her paper work. After joining us second semester as school nurse, she helped organize the Blood Drive. We welcome her to Delone.

Mrs. Kate Keffer's (top rt.) friendly smile could make any sick person feel better. She left after first semester to become a full time Nurse Practitioner.

Sister Ann Vincentia, S.S.J. (mid rt.) is the smiling face that greets all students who enter the Religious Resource Center. She serves 17 parishes in the Conewago and southwest Deaneries. She likes her job because it aids people in enhancing effective teaching. In her spare time, Sister enjoys music, crafts, and basketball.

Mrs. Camille McFarland (mid. lf) and her dog, Duffy, take a break from their afternoon walk. She carries a heavy load of obligations at Delone. These include her English I and Industrial Arts classes, her duties as Student Council Moderator and Activities and Development Director, and her participation on the PAC and Orientation Committees. If she has the time, she enjoys decorating and reading science fiction novels. Her favorite quotation is by Sir Isaac Newton: "If I have seen far, it is because I have stood on the shoulders of giants."

Mr. Thomas R. Staub (bottom left) takes aim, but what is his target? In addition to being Athletic Director, he teaches American Government and General Biology. In his leisure time Mr. Staub enjoys hunting and farming. His favorite quote is, "Different strokes for different folks," by Donald E. Hertz.

Sister Laurentina (top left), keeps track of records in the Discipline Office. Besides this, she assists Sister Marie Aimee in the Studies Office. In her free time, she enjoys reading.

Mrs. Cindy Vial (top right), puts her telephone conversations on hold to drink her Diet Coke. As our school secretary, Cindy can answer almost any question and do almost anything. In her limited spare time she enjoys running, bowling, and shopping.

Sister Helen Joseph (mid right), helps Mrs. McFarland in the Development Office. She pursues her hobbies of walking, gardening, and cooking when she is not busy in her position as secretary of the Development and Activities Office. She finds inspiration in Psalm 46:10, "Be still, and know that I am God."

Mr. Michael Hirsh (right), rehearses with one of his students for the Spring Concert. He heads the music program for the area grade schools.

Mr. Jerry Yealy, (top ctr), joined the maintenance staff this year. He enjoys swimming and badminton in his spare time. He says, "Life is a good experience to those who avail themselves."

Mr. Frank Topper, (top right), can often be found working into the night putting the school in tiptop shape.

Each day one of these three women, Mrs. Jean Bunty, Mrs. Agnes Staub or Mrs. Barb Giraffa, (mid left), takes our money. However, it's all part of the job since they are cashiers.

These special ladies, Mrs. Betty Krumrine, Mrs. Marie Sneeringer, and Mrs. Pat Murren, (mid right), insure that our dishes are squeaky clean every day.

Our four dieticians, Mrs. Joanne Staub, Mrs. Carolyn Leonard, Mrs. Jerry Smith and Mrs. Viola Smith, (left), pause while making pizza. Although Friday remains the traditional pizza day, there have been many creative changes in our school menu for which we, the students and faculty, are thankful.

FACULTY CANDIDS

Last year, Delonian included photographs of Delone staff members and their children who attend Delone. This year, photographs were taken of Delone Faculty and their children who are seniors: Mr. Jack Miller and daughter Danielle, Mr. Tom Staub, Mrs. Mary Ann Staub and Becky, Mr. Gerald McBride and Mary, and Mr. John Gastley and Jackie.

ACTIVITIES

NOT BOUND BY BRICKS

Student Council

The Student Council has spent most of this year in an attempt to develop leadership and to define its role at Delone. The Council has become a positive force making many contributions to the Delone community. After attending a leadership seminar at McDevitt H.S., they made the decision to sponsor a similar seminar at Delone for 1988-89. They exchanged places with Student Council members at St. Francis Prep in Spring Grove to learn about the roles of Council members in a private school. They participated in the LIU Student Forum. This was not just a building year. Student Council planned the Homecoming Weekend, a time to be remembered with its floats, cars, crowns, and flowers. The talent show provided springtime fun. The members volunteered to organize the auction and the elections for 88-89. No earth shattering changes were made but lessons learned and strong, caring young men and women were made stronger and more caring through a year of service.

Delonian

It has taken a lot of work to get to this point, but the 1988 Delonian is finally completed. All the frantic days before deadlines, designing layouts, and typing are now just memories. This project has added something very special to my senior year for which I will always be thankful. It was my chance to give the senior class of 1988, the underclassmen, and the faculty something in return for all that I have received at Delone. I hope it is enjoyed by everyone!

Many thanks are needed upon reaching this goal. Thanks to MCKS for being our advisor and our friend. Thanks to Cathy Overbaugh for brightening those days close to deadlines with her hard work and sense of humor, and to Danielle Miller for helping me master the picture cropper. And special thanks to Brian Smith, a latecomer to the staff, who helped in any way possible. His support and confidence in me made this project even more enjoyable. Thanks to the rest of the staff whose contributions are evident in this book.

But creating this yearbook has not always been serious. Mrs. Schlak made it fun. After big deadlines, we celebrated at Pizza Hut and Patty & John's. Looking back, the funniest part of this project was when Mrs. Schlak or the staff said, "Where is . . . ?" Well, Mrs. Schlak, the table will finally be cleared so that you can put your Diet Coke on it because we did it!

National Honor Society

Under the leadership of its officers and moderator Miss Anne Kerr, Delone's National Honor Society participated in several service activities. This year's group project was assisting with the job fair. In addition, some members volunteered to answer phones for the WITF-TV fund raiser, participated in the Diocesan Youth Mass held on Palm Sunday, and tutored other students. At the close of the year, the members presented a slide show to the Delone community depicting Delone student life. It was set to the musical selection "What a Wonderful World."

Yearbook Business

The Yearbook Business Staff handles the difficult task of finding businesses in the area which are willing to place ads in the book. They are also responsible for taking orders and collecting payments from students. These responsibilities are vital in publishing the Delonian.

F.B.L.A.

The F.B.L.A. (Future Business Leaders of America) is one of several student organizations endorsed by the Department of Education. There are chapters in many high schools throughout the United States. The purpose is to promote leadership skills in an environment of learning by doing. In addition, in the spring of each year, students have the opportunity to compete in academic competition with students from area high schools.

Angie Bixler, 1st in Business Law

Forensics

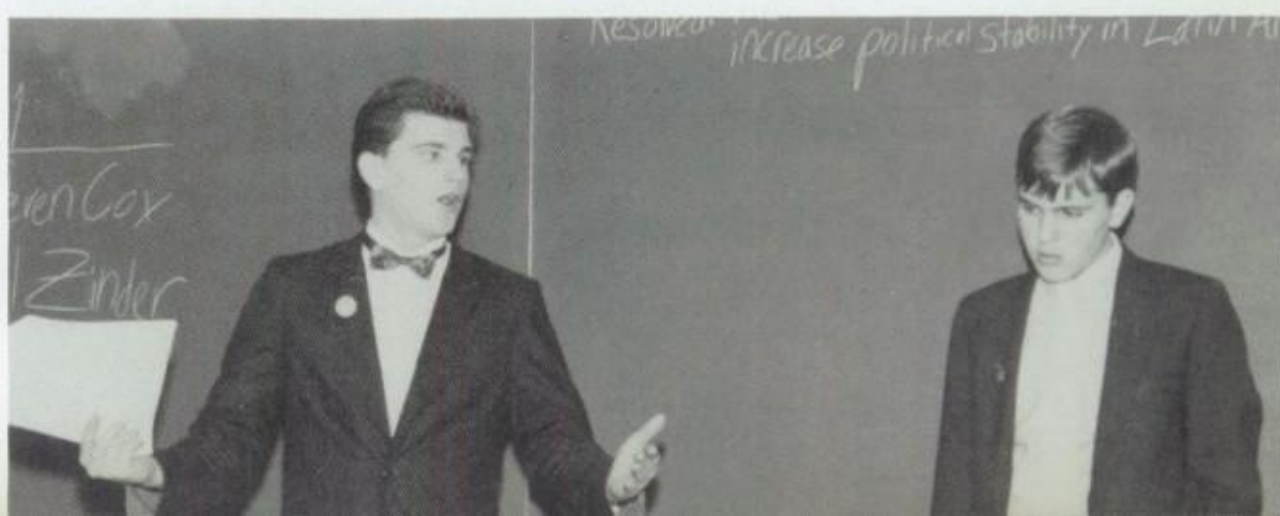

Delone's forensics team had a phenomenal success this year. Boasting its largest team of nearly thirty members, it has become a strong and feared opponent throughout the district as well as in state competition. Its achievements have been marked by a first place varsity debate win at Delone's own invitationals, a first place novice team award at the Shikallemi Tournament, as well as numerous individual awards. Its greatest success came in capturing both the District 7 championship title in varsity and novice debate and the District speech title in an impressive run-away point victory. Team spirit and support were a constant throughout the year, even during tedious hours of practice and tense moments before the competition. Under the outstanding leadership of seasoned debate captain Paul Zinder, Delone's "Cinderella" team (as nicknamed by many debate moderators) once again represented District 7 at State finals. The affirmative team of Steve Cox and Paul Zinder held a record of 4-0, which combined with the 2-2 record of negative Debaters Kelly Barrick and Michael Kornacki carried the team to quarter finals. This is the pinnacle of a four year debate career for Paul Zinder, whose unprecedented four perfect scores are a Delone record. Novice debaters hope to continue his winning tradition.

Four PHSSL state qualifiers emerged from District Speech finals held at Bishop McDevitt. Both Mike Yantis and Christa Schuchart qualified in Lincoln-Douglas debate, while freshman James Winklemen captured the District title in extemporaneous speaking. Leona Sevvick's fourth place state win in dramatic interpretation capped a four year forensics career which included two first place district titles, a first place state championship in persuasive speaking, and over 14 other district and regional state awards. Steve Spalt, also a veteran member and named among the top 10 speakers in the State last year, was selected as presiding officer in Student Congress and presented one of only two resolutions passed at Penn State. Jonathon Hoover and Holly Drumheller also participated in the radio announcing category. Delone's forensics team has been led by an exceptional group of seniors this year, including President Leona Sevvick, Vice-President Paul Zinder, Steve Spalt and Steve Cox. None of these successes would have been possible, however, without the tireless effort of Ms. Mary Furlong and speech coach Mr. Alan Griffith, the dedication and selflessness of the volunteer judges and drivers, and most importantly the support of the Delone community.

Mock Trial

In its second year of participation in the Pennsylvania Bar Association Statewide Mock Trial Competition, Delone proved a formidable opponent as it defeated three teams to capture the District title. Presented with the topical issue of AIDS testing, students worked under the instruction of Attorney Cathy Gault to prepare a case which would "tip the scales" in their favor. Championing the cause of an individual's right to privacy versus a hospital's discriminatory testing policy, the plaintiff team comprised of lawyers Tina Cappetta, Patrick Long, and Leona Seveck displayed superior oratorical and argumentative abilities through provocative questioning and a convincing summation. With the help of the persuasive (and often hostile) testimonies of witnesses Steve Weaver and Kelly Barrick, Delone soundly defeated Upper Fulton.

The defense team followed this victory with an equally impressive win over Gettysburg. Defending the Stanley S. Stoudt Hospital, lawyers Christa Schuchart, Paul Zinder, and Mike Kornacki successfully supported its contention that society's safety far outweighs a student's privacy rights. Once again, Delone's expert witnesses proved invaluable as they provided crafty, quick answers to the opposing counsel's barrage of questions.

Advancing to regional competition at Dickenson Law School, the team was defeated by Bishop Carroll High School. Nevertheless, the experience gained from this year's success establishes a positive foundation for the future in Mock Trial competition.

Community Service Club

The purpose of the Community Service Club is to reach out and help others in their school, Church, and community. The members do many "little things" all year round, and it is these "little things" that count. They try to meet any need that arises and particularly dedicate themselves to the elderly in nursing homes. The members experience a certain joy in sharing their talents with others.

Model UN

In February, eleven Delone students traveled to PSU Capitol Campus as delegates to the Model UN. One delegation representing Bulgaria, caucused with the Warsaw Pact countries, while the other delegation, representing Senegal worked together with other African countries. Students wrote and debated resolutions seeking solutions to such world problems as hunger and the Iran-Iraq War. A resolution on South African presence in Namibia proposed by Nathan Hockley and Tina Cappetta was passed in committee. Steve Spalt, was chosen as Distinguished Delegate for the fourth consecutive year, a goal few others have attained. A clear success, the Model UN provided delegates with a unique insight into the problems faced by world leaders seeking peace.

Art Service Club

The Art Service Club consists of a small group of art students who prepare the materials to be used in the various art classes, and also arrange and tape the art work displayed in the quarterly exhibits in the lobby. Some silk-screening used mainly for stationary is done. When there is no special need of service, the students work on their current class assignments.

Library Aides

The Library Aides provide a valuable service to Delone by volunteering their time and talents to help with the many tasks necessary for effective and efficient library service. Their responsibilities include typing, sorting and filing cards, shelving books, replacing magazines, and the ever popular sweeping and dusting. By generously assisting Sister Jackie in these areas, the Aides contribute much to the smooth functioning of the library.

SAT Prep

The SAT Prep Club enables Juniors and Seniors to brush up on both mathematics and English skills for the College Boards. These skills, reviewed by Mrs. Roscoe and Mrs. Sauers, ease the tension of the students about the tests and give them the opportunity to improve their previous scores. The highlight of the year is the annual "I survived the SAT Prep Club" party in which students munch out on Mrs. Roscoe's cake and other goodies.

Video Club

The objective of the Video News and Information Club is to produce videos representing all aspects of school life to be shown to students at lunchtime. In its first year of existence, the Video Club realized producing a video was a long, difficult task. Even so, being able to see the resulting video made the work worthwhile.

Crafts Club

The members of the Craft Club experimented with a variety of materials throughout the first semester including making chocolates in candy molds and working with cross-stitch patterns. The second semester activities included instruction on floral arrangements and the construction of various crafts and garments. At the end of the year, the members experienced great satisfaction recalling the new crafts they had learned.

Activity Aides

The Activity Aides are responsible for sound, lights, and seating for all assemblies. They have worked long and hard this year "setting the stage" for retreats, Dio Chorus, the Bishop's visit, the Bloodmobile, etc. The senior members even set up for their own graduation, at the end of the year.

Eucharistic Ministers

This year begins the second year of having seniors serve as eucharistic ministers. In 1985, Bishop Keeler approved the appointment of student ministers to assist at school masses and youth rallies. The students must be 16, of good reputation, and properly trained. The Delone community accepted the Bishop's invitation and began the process of selection and training. This year seven seniors serve with the faculty as eucharistic ministers at school liturgies. They find this new ministry to be a way of serving God, the Church, and Delone.

Marching Band

Although the marching band performs at every football game, many fail to realize the other activities in which these talented students participate. This season the Delone Marching Band entered many parades and competitions. The band went undefeated in its first four competitions. They closed a fantastic season by capturing a second place in the Tournament of Bands competition held in Westminster and a fourth place in the Calvacade of Bands championship held in November at Hershey. Although this was the last performance for the seniors, the Delone Band can look forward to new talents joining its musical ranks in the future.

Led onto the field this year by Drum Major Jim Rosner, the band prepared to perform their rousing show including songs for musical theater. The show opened with "Putting it Together" followed by such numbers as "If I Loved You", "Almost Like Being in Love," and finally "Don't Cry For Me Argentina" in which the banner of Evita made an appearance. The band marched off the field after each show with a great sense of pride, knowing they had performed to the best of their ability and had impressed the spectators.

Jazz Band

Jazz Band has become a tradition at Delone. Each spring Mr. Yealy prepares this elite group of musicians to perform at the spring concert. In addition, these talented musicians also attempt to recruit new members by presenting their program at the grade schools. More energetic and challenging, Jazz Band encourages enthusiastic musicians to express their admiration for a totally different form of music.

Chorus

The Delone Chorus experienced another busy and successful year. After weeks of practice, they performed their Christmas concert. Parents and friends enjoyed listening to the singers as they presented their version of traditional Christmas carols. The audiences also enjoyed the many different songs presented at the annual spring concert.

Also this year Delone had the honor of hosting the annual Diocesan Chorus Festival presented by singers from the seven diocesan high schools. The concert was a success and many new friends were made.

A Fantastic Year!

VARSITY VOLLEYBALL

The Squirettes varsity volleyball team continued the tradition of excellence it has exhibited over the past few years. Besides clinching its second straight Blue Mountain League championship with an undefeated record of 12-0, members of the team also dominated the BML All-Star team. However, upholding the winning tradition required a great deal of hard work, dedication, team unity, and intensity. The team members, seven of whom are seniors, have together developed over the years from an up-and-coming team to a state power under the direction of Coach Kathy Sarbaugh. However, it was not an easy transition as Sarbaugh mentioned to the press during the season, stating, "Getting to the top was a battle, but staying on top is a war." Despite the pressure, the Squirettes completed their season with a 15-1 record, their only loss coming to long-time rival Carlisle. They also won two tournament championships. In addition to bumps, bruises, and "skiddage" from those all-out dives for the ball, the girls came away with a sense of achievement, not only from their wins but also from their relationships with fellow teammates. Although the team is losing many seniors and a dedicated coach who has contributed endless hours to the development of the team, they leave behind an impressive record of 63-10 over the last four years along with underclassmen with great talent. As the Squirette volleyball team ran into their huddle before each game, Gator Gum in place, the team unity, so important to their success, was apparent as they yelled, "Squirettes C-R-R-R-U-S-H!"

In her last year as coach, Mrs. Kathy Sarbaugh comments on the past four years: "Measuring success often centers on winning and losing in athletics — this is the easiest guideline because it is cold, hard numbers in comparison. The girls' VB team passes the success test numerically, 63-10 over the last 4 seasons, with the Class of '88 as a nucleus. 24-0 in the BML, 2 BML championships and 2 District III AA titles enhance the accomplishments. Yet, the Squirettes success to me is in their growth as women athletes and their dedication to reach a potential that was a heavy burden. They have done only their best in bringing respect to Delone VB. It has been my privilege to witness this success as their coach."

JV Volleyball

Achieving a record of 11-5, the JV volleyball team once again enjoyed a winning season. Coached by Barb Lawrence, the JV proved that Delone will continue to be a force to contend with in the future. Although often overshadowed by the accomplishments of the Varsity, the girls were an important part of the Squirette volleyball team. With their enthusiasm, experience, and skill, they can look forward to a promising season next year.

Varsity Field Hockey

The 1987 DCHS Hockey Team had a very successful season. This success was not determined by the win-loss record the team compiled at the end of the season, but rather by the personal growth each girl achieved. The Hockey Team suffered from many "low blows" and despite these, they stuck it out. This year's team was one of the most determined teams that Delone has fielded in a long time. This determination made up for any setbacks the team experienced along the way. The DCHS Hockey Team members were guided throughout the season by two very important quotes: "It doesn't matter if you win or lose, it's how you play the game that counts," and "It's not over 'til it's over, 'til we get it right."

Varsity Football

Led by junior speedster Mark Lookenbill and the leadership of the seniors, the 1987 Squire football team attained many goals thought impossible. By advancing to District III PIAA, the Squires played 13 games, the most games in one season in Delone history. Although they were defeated by Juniata in the finals, the Squires showed tremendous character and depth in their victory over Milton Hershey one week earlier in the midst of a snow storm. The Squires demonstrated great skill in BML action as well. However the most satisfying victories of the season had to be those over rivals Hanover and South Western which brought the City Cup back to Delone. The honor which added even more to this incredible season was the WSBA Trophy for the Best District III team. Thus the seniors on the team said good-bye to their high school careers knowing that they were part of this award winning precedence and realizing that a 22-6-1 record over their last three years at DCHS was definitely admirable.

Individual honors included: BML All-Stars: Matt Heromin, Mark Lookenbill, Troy McMaster, Chris Slusser.

VARSITY AND JV

In April of 1987, the varsity cheerleaders were selected and immediately began preparing for the fall football season. This preparation included a week long summer camp as well as late summer double sessions. The team experienced tremendous satisfaction and pride when they finished second among the thirty-five squads who attended camp. Their excitement mounted in the fall when Bob Murren, the first male football cheerleader, joined the squad. Bob's strength enhanced the girls' ability to perform more complicated stunts while his spirit delighted the crowd. Although the squad achieved new heights, they were saddened by the knowledge that it was Mrs. Black's final season as cheerleading coach. Mrs. Black, who spent nine years as Delone's cheerleading coach, had a thorough knowledge of the rigors of the sport and prepared her cheerleaders for them through running, aerobics, gymnastics, and constant practice. It is because of her the Delone cheerleaders have attained their highest level ever. Her expertise will be missed by all the cheerleaders at D.C.H.S.

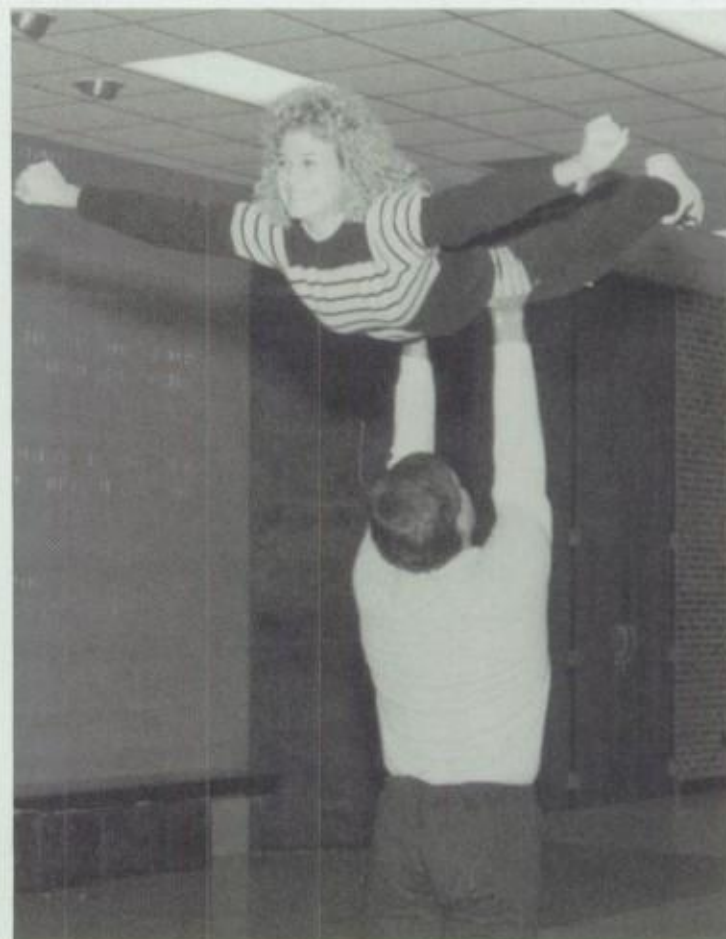

The JV football cheerleaders likewise experienced a successful season reaching the finals of a competition sponsored by the camp they attended. Most of them experienced doubles for the first time. After surviving "sophomore initiation" with ease, the JV's showed that practice and determination can improve their ability and performance. The JV squad proved to the Delone community that they can follow in the footsteps of excellent Varsity cheerleaders.

Varsity Basketball Cheerleading

Under the leadership of their new coach, Mrs. Sue Arigo, the Varsity, JV, and Freshmen Basketball cheerleaders were once again in fine form. Not only did the Varsity and JV entertain the Squire fans with their enthusiastic cheers and chants but also with their half-time dance routines. The performance of the squads were enhanced because of the excellent seasons that all the Squire basketball teams enjoyed.

Wrestling Cheerleading

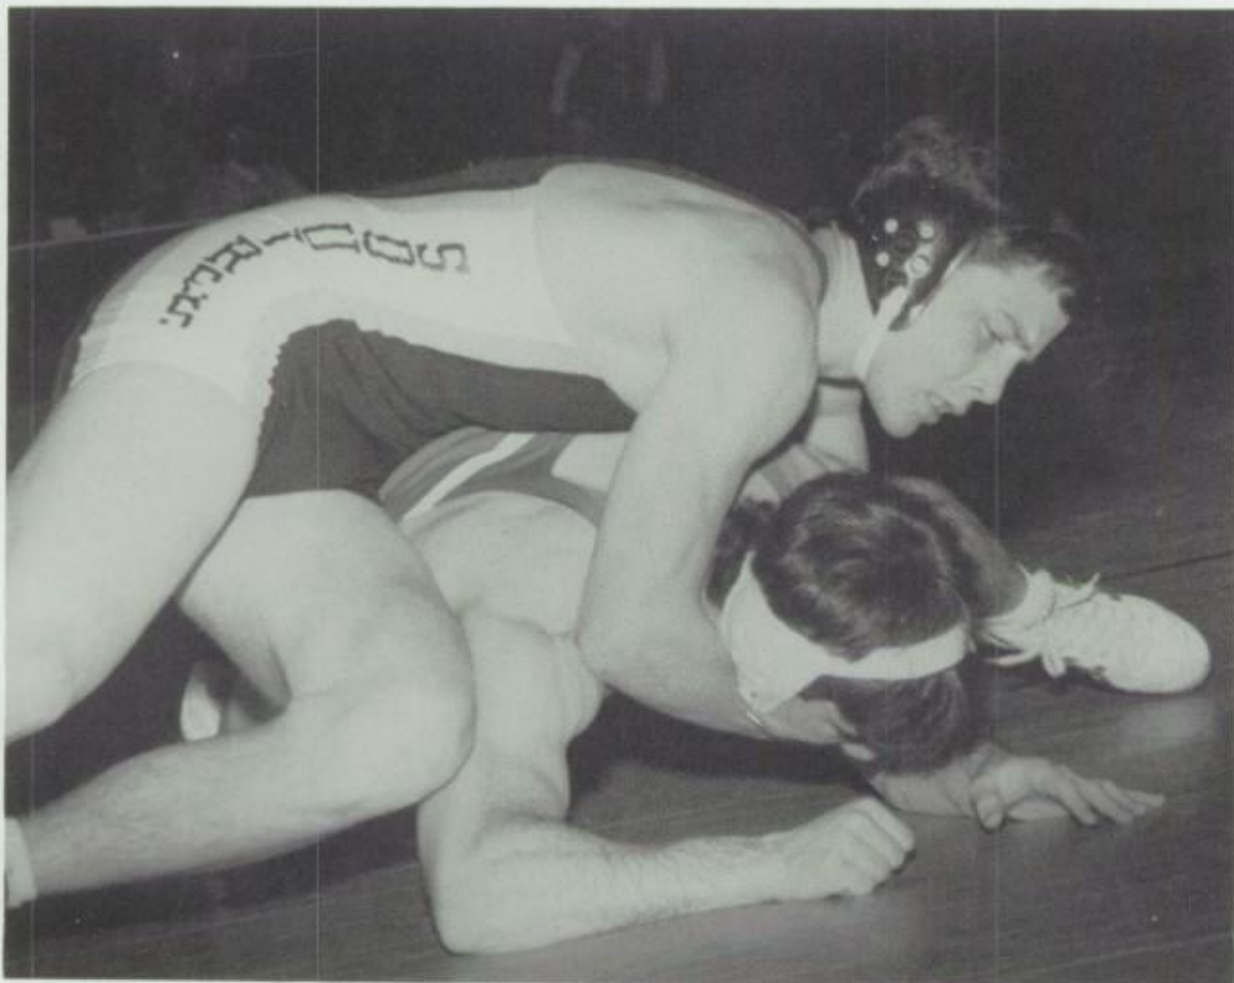

Under the leadership of new coach, Mrs. Alice Lawson, this year's wrestling cheerleaders proved to be a unique group. Although many of the Varsity squad were involved in other activities like field hockey, volleyball, and maintaining jobs, they still found time to prepare well for the season. Also most of the JV's never cheered before at Delone. Their inexperience was not evident as they caught on quickly. After many strenuous practices, both squads were in top form to begin cheering for what would be one of the finest Delone wrestling teams in recent years.

JV Wrestling

Delone's JV and Junior High wrestling teams opened the season with a spirit of freshness as they prepared to face their opponents. The JV team combined non-stop determination with massive wrestling action. Seniors Mike Lawson and Ed Wetzel tried their hand at this vigorous sport for the first time. Although the Junior High team, got a late start, they grew in experience and strength and should prove to be an asset in the future.

Varsity Wrestling

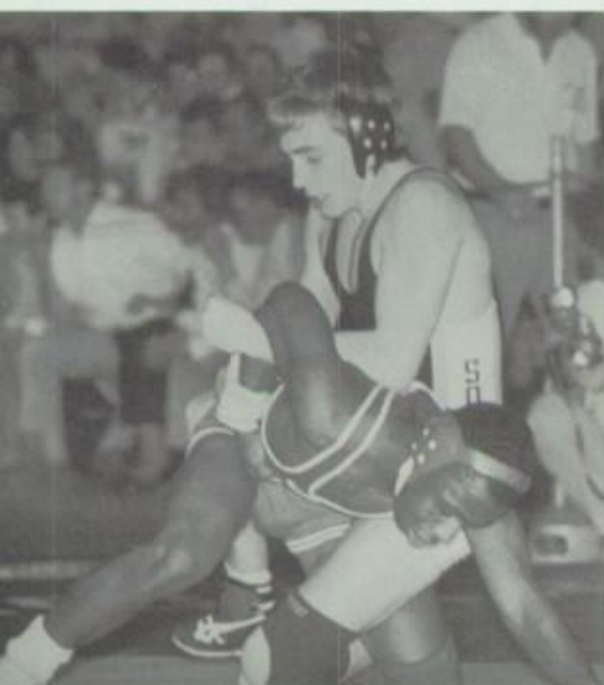

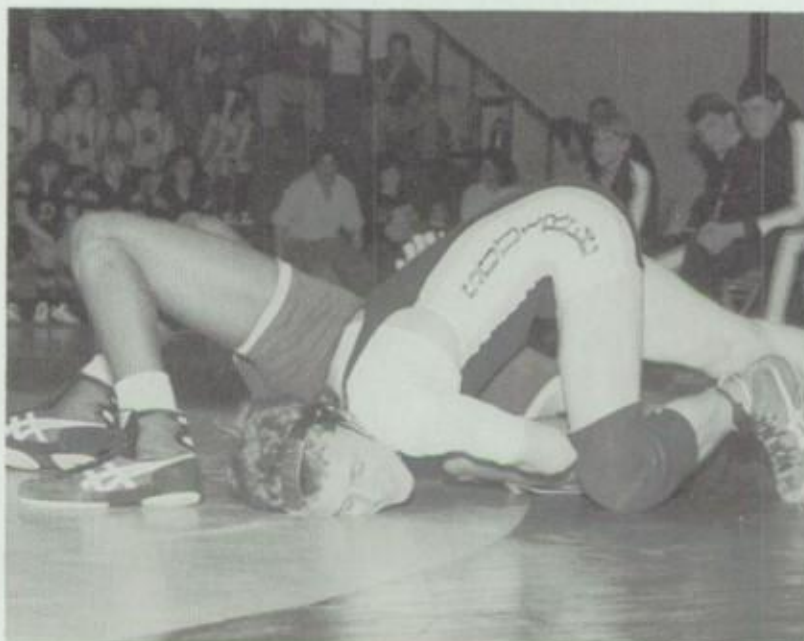

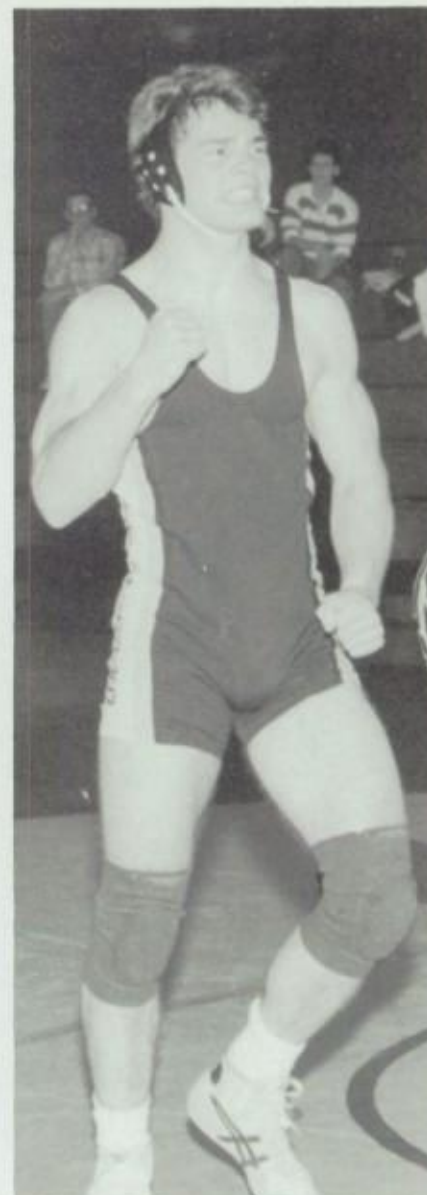

This year's varsity wrestling team provided plenty of excitement for their fans. Hardwork and perseverance finally paid off for the Squires when they beat Northern for the first time, broke the school record for the most wins in a season and took second place in the Blue Mountain League. Proud of these accomplishments, the wrestlers moved on to sectionals where Tony Bream placed first, Ken "Spike" Kuhn and Craig Reese placed second, Joe Neiderer and Chad Giraffa placed third, and Aaron Small placed fourth in their weight classes. Even though they had an impressive showing in sectionals, Tony Bream, Ken "Spike" Kuhn and Craig Reese were the only Squires who managed to fight their way into the second round of Districts.

Girls' Varsity Basketball

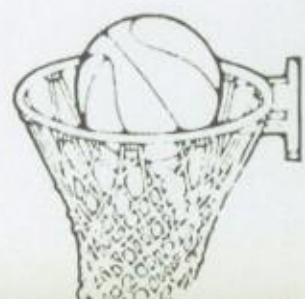

The Delone Girls' Varsity Basketball team had its most successful season in the history of the school. The girls, under the leadership of Coach Pam Duncan not only placed first in the Blue Mountain League, but also placed second in the District III playoffs and lost their second round in states to the eventual Easter Division champion Catasauqua. In the course of the season, they also won the North Eastern Tournament and Delone's Tournament. The girls' determination and sportsmanship were applauded not only by their many fans but also in articles and editorials concerning them. Since there was only one senior on the starting five, Delone can look forward to future successful seasons.

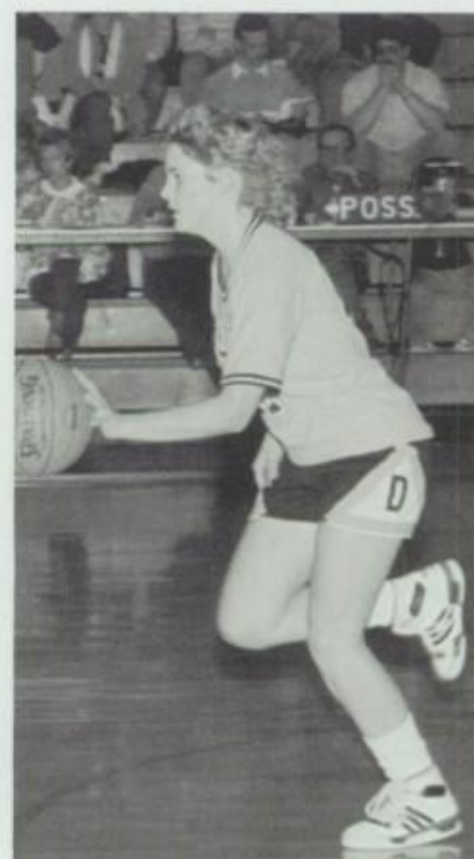

Several girls won individual honors. Senior Jody Schuchart was named to the Blue Mountain League All Star Team, the Gettysburg Times All Star Team, the Hanover Area Girl's All Star Team, the District III All Tournament Team and the Eastern All Tournament Team. She also receive Honorable Mention on the Senior Classic Team and the Patriot's Big 15. Juniors Kristin Schneider and Michelle Sneeringer were named to the 2nd team of the BML to the Hanover Area All Star Team and to the North Eastern All Tournament Team where Kristin was named MVP. Sophomore Ann Welty was also named to the North Eastern All Tournament Team.

Girls' JV Basketball

As the Girls' JV Basketball team completed the 1987-88 season with a record of 12-6, they will remember the fun of competition, the excitement of winning close games like their victory over Greencastle, and the experience acquired by practicing with the Varsity girls. The performance of the girls during this season of preparation for their upcoming Varsity seasons shows that Delone has just begun to see the excellence of Girls' Varsity Basketball teams.

Varsity Basketball

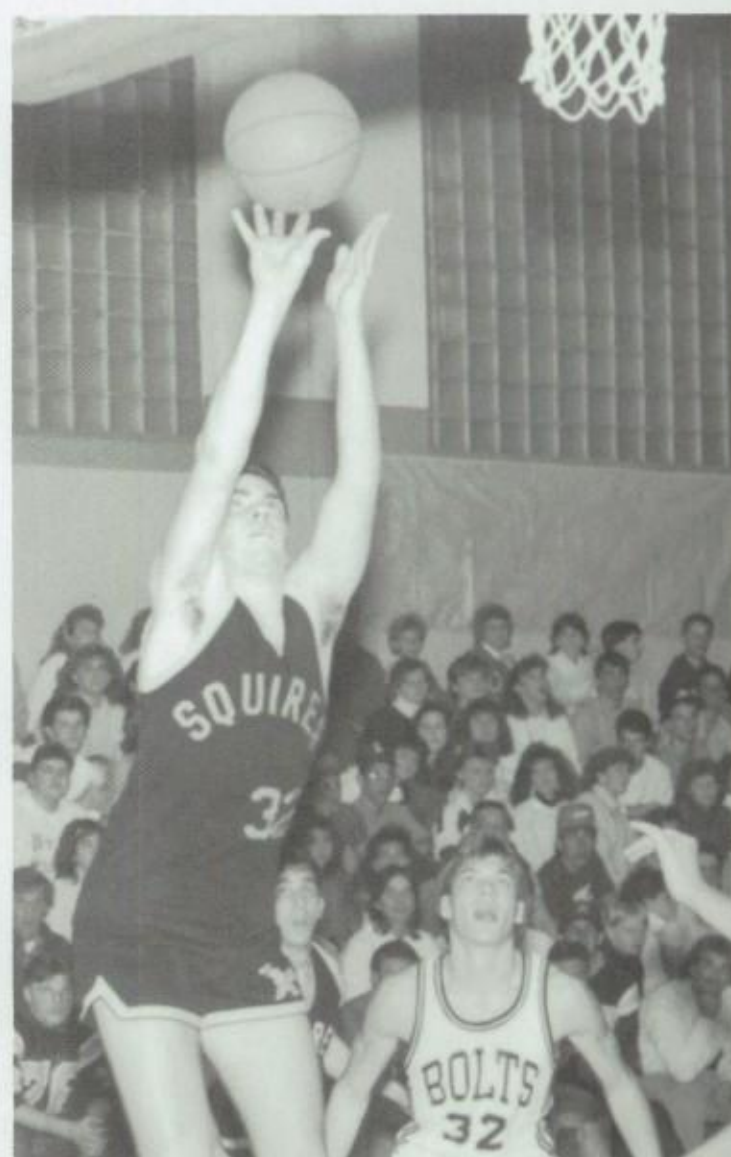

Squires returned for their second year in the Blue Mountain League with an overall record of 23-7. The Squires fell short of the first half championship by a total of 5 points. Also in the first half, the Squires captured a first place victory at the East Pennsboro Christmas Tournament in Harrisburg. The Squires had a little rougher time in the second half but managed to put things back together and ended with a successful season and a 3rd place finish in District III AA play. The Squires came back strong once again to defeat a number one seeded team before being eliminated by the State Eastern Region runner-up Warrior Run.

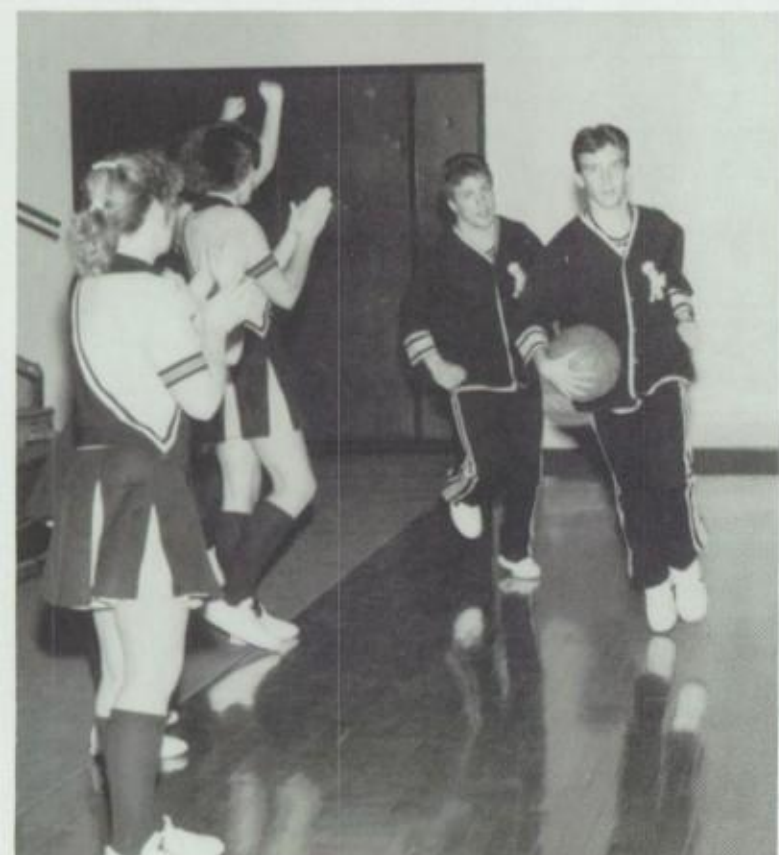

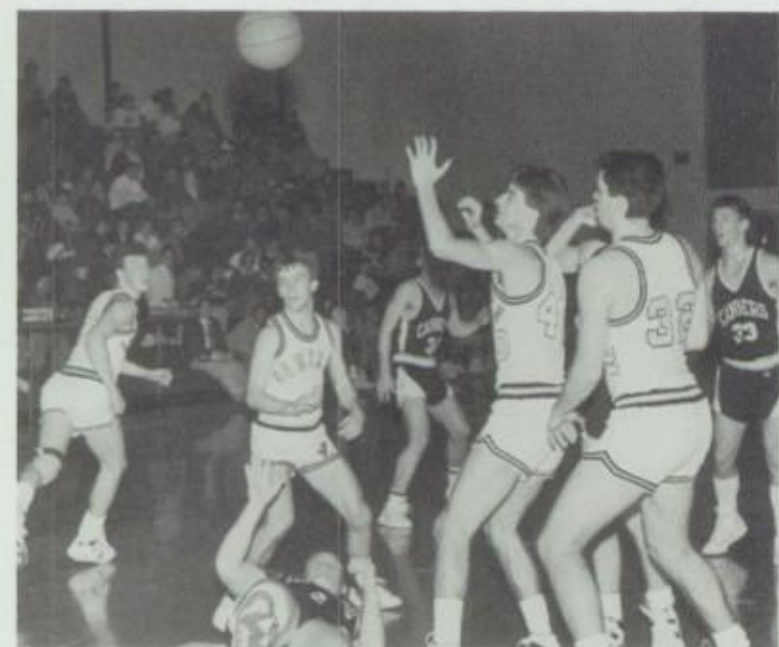

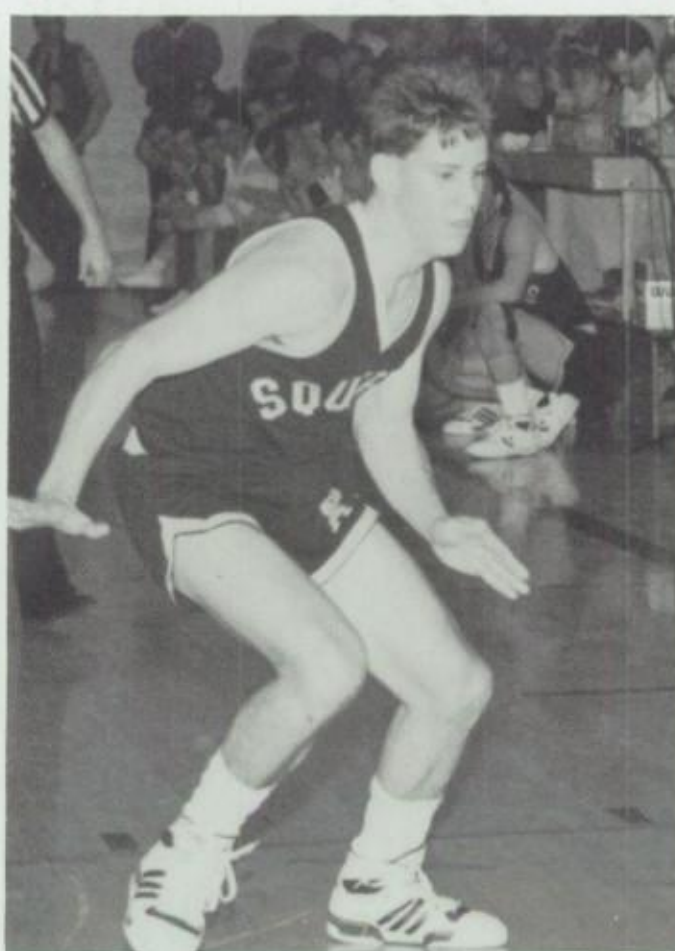

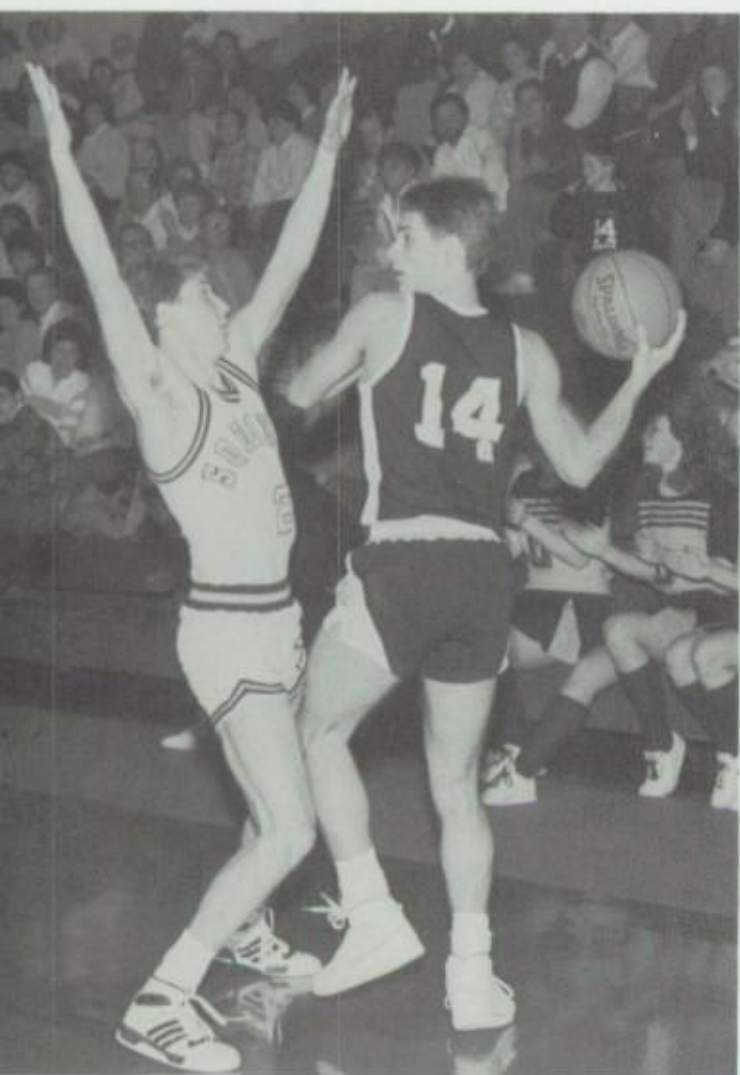

Two members of the team achieved individual honors. Jerry Driscoll was named to the All District Team, the 1st Team of the Blue Mountain League, and to the All-Tournament Team at East Pennsboro where he was named MVP. He also was selected as an Evening Sun All Star, A Gettysburg Times All Star and received Honorable Mention on the Big 15. Scott Amig was named an Evening Sun All Star, received Honorable Mention on the Blue Mountain League Team and was selected to the All Tournament Team at East Pennsboro where he earned the Sportsmanship Award.

Boys' JV Basketball

The JV Team ended the 87-88 season on a winning note. As the team moved up to the 2nd level of high school basketball, they constantly improved throughout the season. After having a slow start losing their first 3 games, the Squires managed to put the pieces into place, get back on track, and make it over the .500 mark to have a successful season.

Squire Sluggers Show Success!

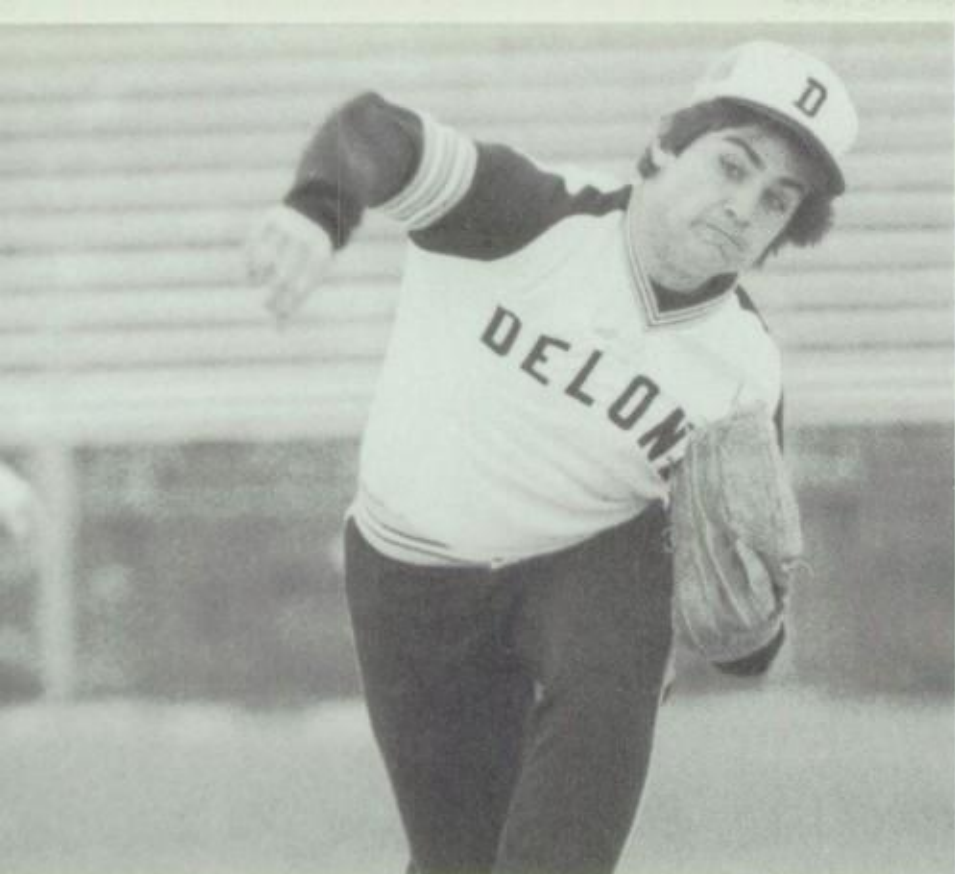

Recovering from a slow 3-2 start, the 1988 Squire baseball team won their next five games in a row. They finished the regular season with a 11-4 overall record and tied for second in the BML. The Squires were the only team to defeat the BML champion Waynesboro Indians. At press time, the Squires were scheduled to advance to District playoff action. Players who provided the necessary consistency for the team included John Hagerman, Matt Lecorchick, and J.J. McKim. Outstanding pitching performances by Freshman Ryan Storm and reliever J.J. McKim also highlighted the wonderful season.

Record Breaking Season!

The 1987-88 Delone Squirrelles softball team completed a remarkable season. The Squirrelles, under head coach Bob Strausbaugh and assistant coach John O'Brien, made history at Delone. For the first time ever, the Squirrelles were named co-champions of the Blue Mountain League and earned themselves a berth in Districts.

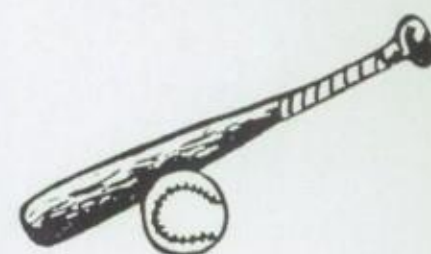

Consistent pitching by Audrey Hensel and Lisa Brilhart backed up by strong hitting gave the team the edge to come out ahead in many of the close games. The Squirrelles continued to win throughout the season setting a school record for the most wins ever by a softball team. With all these accomplishments, the girls enjoyed a memorable and successful season.
